

Timestamp	Feature	Narrative	Reporter/Interviewer	Significant Guest(s)	Guest Position	Story Location	Topic	Source	Date	Length	Program Title	Web	Air Time
KRCU PUBLIC FILE REPORT - OCTOBER - DECEMBER 2016
10/10/2016 8:37:06	Interview	It's KRCU's Going Public and I'm Marissanne Lewis-Thompson. Today "the new kid on media row" and home of the Southeast Arrow will be dedicated. The Rust Center for Media will host an open house for the public to explore the new facility. But ahead of today's festivities, I took a private tour of the new media center with Dr. Tamara Zellars Buck, an associate professor from the Department of Mass Media at Southeast. The center has everything from photo, audio and webcast production spaces to a podcasting room and TV studio. And it's quickly becoming the new innovative face for multimedia journalism at Southeast. Our first stop was the content creation lab. It's the heartbeat of the facility.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	Dr. Tamara Zellars Buck	Associate Professor in the Department of Mass Media	Cape Girardeau	College & Universities	KRCU	10/7/2016	0:11:17	Going Public	Yes	18:00
10/10/2016 8:39:51	Interview	It's Going Public on KRCU and I'm Marissanne Lewis-Thompson. As celebrations for National Hispanic Heritage month continue, the Crisp Museum at Southeast's River Campus is hosting the exhibit Estamos Aqui. The exhibit showcases modernized serigraphs created by 40 artists, many of which show the Latino and Chicano experience. Joining me in the studio is one of the exhibit's featured artist's Fidencio Duran.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	Fidencio Duran	Artist	Cape Girardeau	Art	KRCU	10/7/2016	0:08:28	Going Public	Yes	18:00
10/14/2016 12:12:04	Interview	This is KRCU's Going Public and I'm Marissanne Lewis-Thompson. Sparked by the shooting deaths of African American men by police officers, emerged both the "Black Lives Matter" and "Blue Lives Matter" movements. Both movements triggered a national conversation on the state of policing and race in America. Recently, I spoke with the Dr. Raleigh Blasdel, an Assistant Professor in the Department of Criminal Justice and Sociology at Southeast to talk about it.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	Dr. Raleigh Blasdel	Assistant Professor in the Department of Criminal Justice and Sociology at Southeast	Cape Girardeau	Racial Relations	KRCU	10/14/2016	0:20:30	Going Public	Yes	18:00
10/19/2016 16:18:41	Interview	Dan Woods talks with Jason Sides about the state of the race for governor and senator in Missouri.	Dan Woods	Jason Sides	Assistant Professor, Dept. of Political Science, Philosophy & Religion	Cape Girardeau	Politics & Government	KRCU	10/19/2016	0:04:00	All Things Considered	Yes	16:44
10/20/2016 11:18:41	Interview	Dan Woods talks with Jason Sides about the state of the race for governor and senator in Missouri.	Dan Woods	Jason Sides	Assistant Professor, Dept. of Political Science, Philosophy & Religion	Cape Girardeau	Politics & Government	KRCU	10/20/2016	0:04:00	Morning Edition	Yes	7:45
10/24/2016 9:25:55	Interview	The Black Lives Matter movement pushed the conversation of racial injustices with law enforcement against African Americans into the national spotlight. Assistant Professor Dr. Shonta Smith from the Department of Elementary, Early and Special Education at Southeast Missouri State University, is a supporter of the movement. Smith, who teaches courses on diversity joined KRCU's Marissanne Lewis-Thompson in the studio to talk about the movement.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	Dr. Shonta Smith	Assistant Professor from the Department of Elementary, Early and Special Education at Southeast Missouri State University	Cape Girardeau	Racial Relations	KRCU	10/21/2016	0:20:09	Going Public	Yes	6:00
10/26/2016 14:01:48	Interview	Dan Woods talks with President Vargas about two reported sexual assaults on campus this year and about early discussions on Southeast becoming a tobacco-free campus.	Dan Woods	Dr. Carlos Vargas	President, Southeast Missouri State University	Cape Girardeau	College & Universities	KRCU	10/26/2016	0:04:00	Morning Edition	Yes	7:45
10/28/2016 10:49:31	Feature	This is KRCU's Going Public and I'm Marissanne Lewis-Thompson. For the first time in 12 years, someone besides Peter Kinder will be Lt. Governor of Missouri. Kinder jumped into the governor's race and lost in a crowded Republican primary. St. Louis Public Radio's Marshall Griffin recently talked to GOP nominee Mike Parson and Democrat Russ Carnahan, the men who hope to be Missouri's next Lt. Governor.	Marshall Griffin	GOP nominee Mike Parsc	Politicians	St. Louis		KWMU	10/28/2016	0:03:50	Going Public	Yes	6:00
10/28/2016 10:50:56	Interview	With nearly two weeks until election day, some Missourians are still on the fence on who to vote for. Earlier this month, KRCU's Dan Woods spoke with Jason Sides, Assistant Professor in the Department of Political Science, Philosophy and Religion at Southeast about the state of the race in Missouri.	Dan Woods	Jason Sides	Assistant Professor in the Department of Political Science, Philosophy and Religion at Southeast	Cape Girardeau	Politics & Government	KRCU	10/28/2016	0:07:30	Going Public	Yes	6:00
10/28/2016 10:53:07	Interview	This is KRCU's Going Public. I'm Marissanne Lewis-Thompson. In recent months, Cape Girardeau Police Officers have been responding to a growing number of mental health calls. And now, thanks to a partnership between the Cape Girardeau Police Department and the Community Counseling Center, officers are learning different techniques on how to respond to these incidents through a crisis intervention training. Joining me in the KRCU studio to talk about it is Cape Girardeau Police Chief Wes Blair. Thanks for joining me.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	Cape Girardeau Police Chief Wes Blair	Cape Girardeau Police Chief	Cape Girardeau	Crime	KRCU	10/28/2016	0:07:44	Going Public	Yes	6:00
11/1/2016 8:05:33	Interview	Dan Woods talks with Jason Sides about the Senate race in Missouri. (Kander v. Blunt)	Dan Woods	Jason Sides	Assistant Professor, Dept. of Political Science, Philosophy & Religion	Cape Girardeau	Politics & Government	KRCU	10/31/2016	0:04:00	All Things Considered	Yes	16:44
11/14/2016 11:39:30	Feature	In honor of Veterans Day, we're sharing the stories of local veterans from all of the major wars and conflicts. We begin our series "We Came Home" with a story from WWII veteran Staff Sgt. John Dragoni. At 18 years old he joined the U.S. Army Air Corps in August 1943. He went on dozens of reconnaissance missions serving as a radar navigator on the iconic B-29 bomber. This is his story.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	John Dragoni	WWII veteran	Cape Girardeau	Culture	KRCU	11/10/2016	0:06:27	Going Public	Yes	6:00
11/14/2016 11:42:42	Feature	In honor of Veterans Day, we're sharing the stories of local veterans from all of the major wars and conflicts. Our next story comes from the Vietnam War. It's one of the most controversial conflicts in American history. As the U.S. was going through its own societal changes, perceptions of the war were rapidly changing from support to opposition. Soldiers came back to insults and a feeling of societal isolation. Vietnam War veteran Thomas M. Meyer was one of them. This is his story.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	Thomas M. Meyer	Vietnam Veteran	Cape Girardeau	Culture	KRCU	11/10/2016	0:04:57	Going Public	Yes	6:00

Timestamp	Feature	Narrative	Reporter/Interviewer	Significant Guest(s)	Guest Position	Story Location	Topic	Source	Date	Length	Program Title	Web	Air Time
11/14/2016 11:48:39	Feature	Coming off the heels of World War II, the Korean War, widely regarded as the "Forgotten War," ushered in a new era in U.S. military history. On July 26, 1948, President Harry S. Truman issued an executive order to integrate the U.S. Armed Forces. Alex Cooper, an African American who served in the Army was one of those soldiers whose life was affected by this change.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	Alex Cooper	Korean War Veteran	Hayti	Culture	KRCU	11/11/2016	0:08:59	Going Public	Yes	6:00
11/14/2016 11:52:07	Interview	It's been nearly a year since the racially charged student led protest at the University of Missouri, which led to the resignation of UM System President Tim Wolfe. As a result, universities across the country were left to figure out how to tackle conversations on racial issues. A year ago, I reported on how Southeast started the conversation long before the events at MU. Recently, I sat down Sonia Rucker, the coordinator of Institutional Equity and Diversity at Southeast.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	Sonia Rucker	coordinator of Institutional Equity and Diversity	Cape Girardeau	College & Universities	KRCU	11/4/2016	0:19:49	Going Public	Yes	6:00
11/14/2016 11:56:29	Feature	In honor of Veterans Day, we're sharing the stories of local service members from all of the major wars and conflicts. When we think about the Gulf War, most think of Desert Storm during the 1990s. But conflicts in the gulf were happening long before then dating back to the 1980s. As we continue our veterans day series "We Came Home," we'll hear from Capt. Diane C. Howard USNR-Retired who served just shy of 25 years in the U.S. Navy JAG Corps. Howard began her active duty service in 1980, and shortly after in 1984 began her reservist duty. This is her story.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	Diane Howard	Gulf War Veteran	Cape Girardeau	Culture	KRCU	11/11/2016	0:10:47	Going Public	Yes	6:00
11/14/2016 11:58:05	Feature	In honor of Veterans Day, we're sharing the stories of local service members from all of the major wars and conflicts. We continue our series "We Came Home," with a story from Iraq War veteran Capt. Tyson Mele. Mele joined the U.S. Army in 2002 right after high school. At the time, he had a full-ride scholarship to the University of Missouri. Mele is a fifth generation service member. His father was drafted during the Vietnam War and his grandfather served during the Korean War. Mele is currently serving in the Missouri National Guard. This is his story.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	Tyson Mele	Iraq Veteran	Cape Girardeau	Culture	KRCU	11/11/2016	0:04:35	Going Public	Yes	6:00
11/14/2016 12:00:26	Feature	In honor of Veterans Day, we're sharing the stories of local service members from all of the major wars and conflicts. We continue our series "We Came Home," with a story from Afghanistan War veteran Cpl. E-4 Annie Morozko. She joined the Marine Corps in 2009. In July 2010, Morozko deployed to Afghanistan. This is her story.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	Annie Morozko	Afghanistan Veteran	Cape Girardeau	Culture	KRCU	11/11/2016	0:04:43	Going Public	Yes	6:00
12/5/2016 15:54:38	Feature	In honor of Veterans Day, we're sharing the stories of local veterans from all of the major wars and conflicts. We begin our series "We Came Home" with a story from WWII veteran Staff Sgt. John Dragoni. At 18 years old he joined the U.S. Army Air Corps in August 1943. He went on dozens of reconnaissance missions serving as a radar navigator on the iconic B-29 bomber. This is his story.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	John Dragoni	WWII Veteran	Cape Girardeau	Culture	KRCU	11/18/2016	0:06:27	Going Public	Yes	6:00
12/5/2016 15:56:24	Feature	In honor of Veterans Day, we're sharing the stories of local veterans from all of the major wars and conflicts. Our next story comes from the Vietnam War. It's one of the most controversial conflicts in American history. As the U.S. was going through its own societal changes, perceptions of the war were rapidly changing from support to opposition. Soldiers came back to insults and a feeling of societal isolation. Vietnam War veteran Thomas M. Meyer was one of them. This is his story.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	Thomas M. Meyer	Vietnam Veteran	Cape Girardeau	Culture	KRCU	11/18/2016	0:04:57	Going Public	Yes	6:00
12/5/2016 15:59:33	Feature	Coming off the heels of World War II, the Korean War, widely regarded as the "Forgotten War," ushered in a new era in U.S. military history. On July 26, 1948, President Harry S. Truman issued an executive order to integrate the U.S. Armed Forces. Alex Cooper, an African American who served in the Army was one of those soldiers whose life was affected by this change.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	Alex Cooper	Korean War Veteran	Hayti	Culture	KRCU	11/18/2016	0:08:59	Going Public	Yes	6:00
12/5/2016 16:02:31	Feature	In honor of Veterans Day, we're sharing the stories of local service members from all of the major wars and conflicts. When we think about the Gulf War, most think of Desert Storm during the 1990s. But conflicts in the gulf were happening long before then dating back to the 1980s. As we continue our veterans day series "We Came Home," we'll hear from Capt. Diane C. Howard USNR-Retired who served just shy of 25 years in the U.S. Navy JAG Corps. Howard began her active duty service in 1980, and shortly after in 1984 began her reservist duty. This is her story.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	Diane Howard	Gulf War Veteran	Cape Girardeau	Culture	KRCU	11/25/2016	0:10:47	Going Public	Yes	6:00
12/5/2016 16:04:23	Feature	In honor of Veterans Day, we're sharing the stories of local service members from all of the major wars and conflicts. We continue our series "We Came Home," with a story from Iraq War veteran Capt. Tyson Mele. Mele joined the U.S. Army in 2002 right after high school. At the time, he had a full-ride scholarship to the University of Missouri. Mele is a fifth generation service member. His father was drafted during the Vietnam War and his grandfather served during the Korean War. Mele is currently serving in the Missouri National Guard. This is his story.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	Tyson Mele	Iraq War veteran	Cape Girardeau	Culture	KRCU	11/25/2016	0:04:35	Going Public	Yes	6:00
12/5/2016 16:07:24	Feature	In honor of Veterans Day, we're sharing the stories of local service members from all of the major wars and conflicts. We continue our series "We Came Home," with a story from Afghanistan War veteran Cpl. E-4 Annie Morozko. She joined the Marine Corps in 2009. In July 2010, Morozko deployed to Afghanistan. This is her story.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	Annie Morozko	Afghanistan War Veteran	Cape Girardeau	Culture	KRCU	11/25/2016	0:04:35	Going Public	Yes	6:00

Timestamp	Feature	Narrative	Reporter/Interviewer	Significant Guest(s)	Guest Position	Story Location	Topic	Source	Date	Length	Program Title	Web	Air Time
12/5/2016 16:13:09	Interview	Lewis-Thompson: This is KRCU's Going Public and I'm Marissanne Lewis-Thompson. I want to mention that today's show contains subject matter that some might find difficult to hear. We're talking about sexual assault. With high profile sexual assault cases like Brock Turner, the former Stanford swimmer who sexually assaulted an unconscious woman, the conversation of sexual assault has started back up on college campuses. Recently, Southeast Missouri State University hosted a forum for students and the community to talk more about this issue. I spoke with Molly Wilhelm the education and community impact coordinator at safe house for women. Here's our conversation.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	Molly Wilhelm	education and community impact coordinator at safe house for women	Cape Girardeau	Crime	KRCU	12/2/2016	0:20:00	Going Public	Yes	6:00
1/3/2017 14:05:13	Interview	This is KRCU's Going Public and I'm Marissanne Lewis-Thompson. Heroes, Villains, Monsters is a showcase of comic book and fantasy art on display at the Crisp Museum at Southeast's River Campus. Terese Nielsen is among the artists who are featured in this exhibition, and she was present for the launch event in November. Nielsen is perhaps best known for her artwork in the collectible card game Magic: The Gathering. Her figures have a striking beauty to them, and are powerful, by way of their physicality, or perhaps with a cunning look. KRCU's Jason Brown got the chance to speak with Nielsen, and their conversation begins with an early moment in the game's history.	Jason Brown	Terese Nielsen	Artist	Cape Girardeau	Art	KRCU	12/9/2016	0:10:30	Going Public	Yes	6:00
1/3/2017 14:06:49	Interview	This is Going Public on KRCU. I'm Marissanne Lewis-Thompson. A lot of changes have been happening at Southeast. Starting in the fall of 2017, the university will offer a new drone program for students. And on top of that there's been further expansion of the campus into downtown Cape Girardeau. KRCU's General Manager Dan Woods spoke with Southeast President Dr. Carlos Vargas on the monthly program "Focus on Southeast" to talk about this and much more.	Dan Woods	Carlos Vargas	SEMO President	Cape Girardeau	College & Universities	KRCU	12/9/2016	0:08:45	Going Public	Yes	6:00 [1]
1/3/2017 14:09:52	Interview	This is KRCU's Going Public and I'm Marissanne Lewis-Thompson. As we countdown the remaining weeks of 2016, it's only fitting to do some reflecting on the media. If you've been following the latest headlines and what's been trending on social media, it's fair to say 2016 has been a rough year for the media. With this new administration coming in, the big question is "where do we go from here?" Recently, I spoke with Dr. Tamara Zellars Buck, an associate professor from the department of Mass Media at Southeast about it.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	Dr. Tamara Zellars Buck	Associate Professor from the department of Mass Media at Southeast Missouri State University	Cape Girardeau	Culture	KRCU	12/16/2016	0:19:59	Going Public	Yes	6:00
1/3/2017 14:12:12	Interview	This is KRCU's Going Public and I'm Marissanne Lewis-Thompson. As we countdown the remaining weeks of 2016, it's only fitting to do some reflecting on the media. If you've been following the latest headlines and what's been trending on social media, it's fair to say 2016 has been a rough year for the media. With this new administration coming in, the big question is "where do we go from here?" Recently, I spoke with Dr. Tamara Zellars Buck, an associate professor from the department of Mass Media at Southeast about it.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	Dr. Tamara Zellars Buck	Associate Professor from the Department of Mass Media at Southeast Missouri State University	Cape Girardeau	Culture	KRCU	12/23/2016	0:19:59	Going Public	Yes	6:00
1/3/2017 14:15:47	Feature	This is KRCU's Going Public and I'm Marissanne Lewis-Thompson. When he takes the oath of office in January, Eric Greitens will become the first governor in decades to come from the city of St. Louis. And it's up for debate whether his status as a city dweller will make him different from other Republican officials. St. Louis Public Radio's Jason Rosenbaum explores whether an urban chief executive can help tackle St. Louis' vexing problems.	Jason Rosenbaum	Eric Greitens	Missouri Gov. Elect	St. Louis	Politics & Government	KWMU	12/30/2016	0:03:45	Going Public	Yes	6:00
1/3/2017 14:17:55	Interview	Newly released data from the Missouri Department of Elementary and Secondary Education shows a slight fluctuation on the number of homeless youth in two of the biggest school districts in Cape Girardeau County. Recently, I spoke with State Homeless Education Coordinator Donna Cash from the Missouri Department of Elementary and Secondary Education to talk about the current state of youth homelessness in Missouri and what these new numbers might mean for Cape Girardeau.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	Donna Cash	Missouri Homeless Education Coordinator	Cape Girardeau	Children & Youth	KRCU	12/30/2016	0:08:02	Going Public	Yes	6:00
1/3/2017 14:20:05	Feature	As a quick reminder, the names in this next story have been changed to protect their identity. Earlier this year, KRCU brought you the four part homeless youth series "Living in the Shadows." At the time, two of Cape Girardeau counties biggest school districts had more than 400 identifiable homeless youth. And we shared the story of one of them. Her name was Joanne. She's fifteen now, but nearly eight months ago her life was anything but normal.	Marissanne Lewis-Thompson	Joanne, Natasha, Lana	Homeless family and pastor	Cape Girardeau	Children & Youth	KRCU	12/30/2016	0:07:34	Going Public	Yes	6:00