Meridian Township Police Department
Narrative Report

Incident Number: 04-18086

Report Date: 09/17/04

Information

On 09/17/04 Brianne Randall came to MTPD to make a CSC report. She is 17 years old. She was accompanied by her mother, [REDACTED]

Statement Brianne Randall

Randall stated that about 2-3 months ago she went to the doctor due to a scoliosis condition. She went to Dr. Lawrence Nassar in the Michigan Athletic Club building. Randall's mother accompanied her to this appointment.

At the appointment she was provided with a gown and shorts to wear during the appointment. Nassar did what appeared to be routine testing for things such as strength and flexibility. Nassar then referred her to physical therapy.

At this appointment, with Randall's mother still present, Nassar asked Randall for a hug.

There was a medical student present during this appointment.

Physical Therapy

Randall was delayed in starting physical therapy, due to the caseload where she was referred. About one month ago she started therapy at "Rebound" on Jolly Rd in Lansing. She has been going about two times per week since then. At therapy she has been doing strength training and exercises. Often at the end of a session the therapist will perform soft tissue massage on Randall.

The only areas of Randall's body that the massage has been performed on are her lower and upper back. If only her lower back is going to be massaged, the therapist will not have Randall don a gown. The therapist will just pull the back of Randall's shirt up a little bit. If her upper back is going to be massaged, the therapist will have Randall don a gown. The therapist will then open the back of the gown, only exposing Randall's back. During the massages, Randall will either be lying on her stomach or sitting in a chair. The massages usually last up to about 15 minutes.

No other part of Randall's body has ever been massaged or touched by the therapist at any time. The therapist has never talked to Randall about relieving pressure in her back or other areas by massaging other parts of Randall's body.

Check-up with Dr. Nassar 09/16/04

On 09/16/04 Randall had an appointment with Nassar. The appointment was a check-up to see how she was doing after having gone to therapy for a while. The appointment was for 8:00am, and Randall arrived at 8:10am. Randall went to this appointment alone.

Randall and Nassar were the only ones in the room during the check-up examination. Nassar began by doing the same type things he had done at the original appointment 2-3 months ago. He checked such things as strength and flexibility. He then said that Randall's back felt tight. He gave Randall a gown and shorts to change in to. The shorts had Velcro type sides on them. Nassar left the room while Randall changed in to the gown and shorts. Nassar returned, and had Randall lay on her stomach for a soft tissue massage.

Nassar began by massaging her back, all along her spine. He then moved to her "butt." He "ripped" the Velcro type attachment open on the side of the shorts. Randall had her underwear on under the shorts. Nassar said something to the effect of, "This might give you a wedgie." He was massaging her buttocks. He pulled her underwear down on one side, totally exposing that side of her buttocks. He then moved his hand to her, "crotch area." While massaging her back, he began pressing on the outer area all along her vagina. His hand was directly on her bare vagina. He told her this would relieve the tension in her back and buttocks. He was pressing hard on her vagina, and it hurt Randall. He asked her if she was "ok with this" and if it hurt. She said it did not hurt, even though it did. She said that he could tell that it did hurt. He was trying to put his finger in her vagina. She had a tampon in her vagina, and she said that she could tell that he could tell that it was there. She felt that he was not able to put his finger in her because of the tampon. She said that he did not penetrate her vagina, but he was definitely trying. He continued to massage her back and her crotch, including the outer area of her vagina, for about 20 minutes. He then moved his hands. She was still lying on her stomach. While rubbing her neck, he reached under her, under her gown, and placed his hand on her bare breasts. He was "rubbing around" and "squeezing" her breasts. He told her that this would also relieve the tension in her back and buttocks. He continued this for about 10-15 minutes.

He then stopped. He turned around to take notes. She was trying to reattach the side of the shorts, trying to "cover up." He asked her if she needed any help, and she said no. He said he would turn around while she put her pants on. She put her pants on. She still had the gown on, and did not have a bra on underneath. He said to put her shirt on real quick, and he would make another appointment for her.

Meridian Township Police Department
Narrative Report

Incident Number: 04-18086

Report Date: 09/17/04

She turned away and put her shirt on. He said he wanted to see her once a week for a while, for about an hour per visit. He made several appointments for her. He then asked her for a hug. Randall then went out to see one of the office staff. Nassar had forgotten to give her the appointment sheet. The office lady said they needed to make appointments for Randall. Randall said Nassar already made the appointments. She told Randall that Nassar doesn't make the appointments, she does. Nassar then came out with the information sheet.

Randall stated that she was "scared" and "uncomfortable" while Nassar was touching her in the places other than her back. She thought it was "weird", and it "freaked her out."

She didn't know if it was possible that this type of touching was normal in this type of doctor visit, so when she got back to school she talked to a friend about it. The friend thought it was "weird." Randall then called her mother and told her about it. Randall and her mother then came to MTPD on 09/17/04 and made this report.

Hospital examination

Randall and her mother both said that they would be agreeable to having Randall examined at the hospital. Randall and her mother went to Sparrow Hospital, and I met them there. At Sparrow Randall, her mother, and I all met with [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] is a Registered Nurse, and the coordinator of the Sexual Assault Program at Sparrow. [REDACTED] spoke with the three of us for a short time. [REDACTED] then wanted to speak to Randall, and subsequently examine her. At that time I left. [REDACTED] stated she would call me when the exam was done, and would turn all evidence over to me.

Evidence

[REDACTED] called at approximately 1:15am on 09/18/04, stating she had a completed examination kit to turn over to MTPD. Ofc Tobias went to Sparrow to get the kit from [REDACTED]. He will do a supplemental report on picking the kit up.

Disposition

Forward to the investigations unit for further follow up.

Supplemental Report Narrative

Incident #: 04-18086
File Class: 1175
Original Date: 9-16-04
Supp. Date: 9-23-04
Officer: McCready

INFORMATION:

I was assigned to investigate this case by Sgt. Spencer. After reviewing the report, I contacted the victim, Brianne Randall, via telephone, and requested that she come to the Meridian Township Police Department for an interview. Ms. Randall agreed to do so and was interviewed on 9-21-04.

INTERVIEW WITH VICTIM, BRIANNE RANDALL:

Brianne Randall informed me that she has a medical condition known as scoliosis. Recently, Randall had started seeing a new doctor for her condition, Dr. Lawrence Nassar. The first time she saw Dr. Nassar was in August, she believes. At the August appointment, Dr. Nassar performed a brief examination and subsequently scheduled an appointment for physical therapy. During the initial exam, a student was following Dr. Nassar for the day, and Randall's mother was present as well. At that time, he had Randall put on a robe and some shorts that were fastened with Velcro on the sides. He did not give her any type of message, but asked her for a hug at the end of the appointment, which she found to be odd.

Randall's second appointment with Dr. Nassar was on 9-16-04, at approximately 0810 hrs. Nobody else was present at the time of the examination and he once again asked Ms. Randall to don a robe and Velcro shorts. Randall indicated to me that she was wearing underwear beneath the shorts, however, she was not wearing a bra. During the exam, Dr. Nassar told Randall that "I'm gonna do something that's going to give you a wedgie". He then pulled down the right side of her shorts and underwear, and proceeded to massage her buttocks with his elbow. She indicated that this hurt, however, she did not say anything to him. The doctor then told her "I bet people at physical therapy don't do this". Dr. Nassar asked Randall if her back was bothering her and she indicated to him that she had some stiffness and soreness in her lower back, at which point he massaged that area as well. He then, once again, unfastened the side of her Velcro shorts, pulling down her underwear, and exposed her buttocks. With his left hand, Dr. Nassar was massaging her lower back, while his right cupped her vagina. Randall stated that Dr. Nassar began pressing in different spots of her vaginal area, rather hard. Randall indicated that it seemed like he attempted to penetrate her vagina with his fingers, however, he was unable to do so because she had a tampon inserted at the time. After a while, Dr. Nassar moved to her upper back with his left hand, and with his right hand he squeezed her right breast and then continued rubbing it. Randall stated that he rubbed her breast for approximately five minutes. After finishing the message, Dr. Nassar asked Randall how she felt and took some notes on his clipboard. He noticed that her shorts were not yet refastened and asked her if she needed help with them. The doctor then went out to the reception area and scheduled two appointments for her. Randall found this to be unusual as the nurse typically performs these tasks.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION:

I attempted to contact Dr. Nassar at his residence, via telephone, however, I was unable to do so. On 9-23-04 I left a message indicating that I wished to speak with him.

DISPOSITION:

Attach to original, on file MTPD.

STATUS:

Open pending further investigation.

Incident #: 04-18086
File Class: 1175
Original Date: 9-16-04
Supp. Date: 10-01-04
Officer: McCready

INFORMATION:

On 9-24-04, I made contact with Dr. Lawrence Nassar in reference to scheduling an interview. Dr. Nassar agreed to come in and speak with me.

On 9-29-04, Dr. Nassar came to the Meridian Township Police Department and spoke with me reference this matter. Detective Bart Crane and I conducted the interview in the Investigations Unit interview room.

INTERVIEW WITH DR. LAWRENCE NASSAR:

Dr. Nassar advised me the he had indeed touched Brianne Randall in the perineum, applying pressure with his fingers as he did so. He further indicated that this procedure is a medical technique known as the Sacrotuberous Ligament Release. Dr. Nassar explained that the sacrotuberous ligament goes through the pelvic region, and in order to relieve lower back pain as well as upper leg pain, which the complainant, Brianne Randall was experiencing due to her scoliosis, he was required to touch said region. He indicated that the hamstring is affected, as well as the lower back, when this area is palpated. Dr. Nassar went on to say that this technique has been published in medical journals and training tapes instructing the same are available to physicians throughout the United States. He agreed to provide me with a Power Point presentation, in which the medical procedure is explained in detail. See attached Power Point presentation.

I then contacted the victim's mother, [REDACTED].

INTERVIEW WITH [REDACTED]

I advised Mrs. [REDACTED] of the explanation provided to me by Dr. Nassar for his actions on the date of the reported incident. Mrs. [REDACTED] expressed concern, not necessarily in the medical procedure, but in the way that the doctor explained the procedure to her daughter. She was also troubled by the fact that Dr. Nassar did not wear latex gloves while performing said procedure. I explained to Mrs. [REDACTED] that I would not be able to affect whether or not the doctor wore gloves or if he had another person present during the procedure, however, I would pass her concerns along to Dr. Nassar. I informed Mrs. [REDACTED] that we would be closing the case with no prosecution being sought, due to the facts presented to me by Dr. Nassar.

4 Fibrous Bands of the ST Ligament

- Lateral Band – PIIS to the Ischial Tuberosity
- Medial Band – Coccyx to the Ischial Tuberosity
- Superior Band – PSIS and PIIS to the Coccyx
- Central Bands – Several bands arise from the lateral band and attach to the lower transverse tubercle of the lateral sacral crest at the same location as the inferior border of the long dorsal SI ligament (Falciform process)

Dorsal View of ST Ligament

- Lateral Band spans the piriformis to reach the ilium inferior to the PIIS and as it ascends to the PSIS it blends with the raphe.
- The multifidus distal attachment passes between the superior band and the long dorsal SI ligament to insert into the body of the ST Ligament.

More Hip Lateral Rotators

“The Inferior Gemellus originated from the lateral surface of the ischial tuberosity and also from the medial surface (intrapelvic origin) just beneath the obturator internus and is covered by the falciform process of the sacrotuberous ligament.”

Aung HH, Sakamoto H, Akita K, Sato T, Anatomical study of the obturator internus, gemelli, and quadratus femoris muscles with special reference to their innervation. Anat Rec 2001 May 1;263(1):41-52

ST Ligament and the Hamstring

Frequently, the long head of the biceps femoris attaches to the sacrotuberous ligament allowing the force of the biceps femoris to be transferred to the sacrotuberous ligament. It has been shown that a distally directed tension applied to the biceps femoris was transferred to the ST Ligament even it there was no direct anatomical connection. Thus, in 100% of the cases the BF affected the ST Ligament.

ST Ligament – The Grand Junction

The biceps femoris is directly connected to the ribs/upper trunk via the sacrotuberous ligament, the erector spinae aponeurosis, and the iliocostalis thoracis.

ST Ligament – The Grand Junction

- Traction to the Bicep Femoris results in displacement of the deep lamina of the posterior layer of the thoracolumbar fascia, up to the level of L5/S1 via the ST Ligament
- The deep lamina is fused with the superficial lamina at the level of the sacrum. Since the fibers of the deep lamina are continuous with the ST Ligament an indirect link exists between the ST Ligament and the superficial lamina of the posterior layer of the thoracolumbar fascia

Vleeming A, Snijders CJ, Stoeckart R, Mens JMA. 1997 The role of the sacroiliac joints in coupling between spine, pelvis/legs and arms. Vleeming A, Mooney V, Snijders C, Dorman T, Stoeckart R (eds) Movement, stability and low back pain. Churchill Livingstone, London, pg

ST Ligament and the Gait Cycle

R-Leg Swing Phase → R-innominate rotates posteriorly relative to the sacrum (unilateral R-sacral nutation/flexion) → ↑ R-ST Lig tension to prepare for heel strike to ↑ SI Jt stability → Ctx of HS just before Heel Strike → ↑ R-ST Lig tension to ↑ ↑ ST Lig tension to stabilize the SI Jt for heel strike

SI Ligament and the Dysfunctional Gait Cycle

Dysfunction of the SI joint/ST Ligament creates a neurological inhibition of the gluteus maximus → The hip can not extend as well due to the weak glut → The gait stride is shorten → The bicep femoris compensates and tries to extend the hip more creating a biomechanical inefficient SI closure at heel strike → This may create SI Jt instability and overuse injury/strain/shortening of the hamstring (positive feed back cycle and recurrent HS Strains and SI jt dysfunction)

SI Ligament and the Dysfunctional

Gait Cycle

In general "tight" hamstrings are considered to be a pathologic side effect of LBP – HOWEVER – "tight" HS with SI jt instability is actually a beneficial compensatory mechanism. DO NOT over stretch the HS! Treat the cause of the SI jt instability → Glut Max no longer inhibited and it extends hip again → HS no longer is forced to compensate → Now you can restore normal function

Van Wingerden JP, Vleeming A, Kleinrensink GJ, Stoockart R, 1997 The role of the hamstrings in pelvic and spinal function. Vleeming A, Mooney V, Snijders C, Dorman T, Stoockart R (eds) Movement, stability and low back pain. Churchill Livingstone, London, pg 207-208

The Final Episode of the Grand Junction

- The biceps femoris distal attachment is to the fibula. Weinert et al demonstrated that the fibula moves inferior during heel strike. This downward movement of the fibula increases the tension on the biceps femoris AND THE SACROTUBEROUS LIGAMENT.
- Therefore dysfunction of the fibula may effect the sacrotuberous ligament - AND - dysfunction of the sacrotuberous ligament may effect the fibula.

Innervation of the ST Ligament

- The ST Ligament is innervated by S2-4
- There are no nerve branches from the ventral nerve roots to the SI joint/ligaments.
- The SI Joint and its ligaments are innervated exclusively from the dorsal branches of the sacral spinal nerves.
- All the dorsal nerve trunks pass between the layers of the ST Lig, pierce the origin of the Glut Max, and reach the skin as the nervi clunium medii

ST Ligament Assessment

- Sacrotuberous ligament will be tight on the left side with:
  - Posterior left innominate
  - Anterior sacral base (nutation) R & L tight
  - L/L sacral torsion
- ST Lig will be relaxed on the left side with:
  - Sup L Innominate
  - L unilateral sacral shear
  - Anterior left innominate
  - Sacral base posterior (counter nutation) both R&L relaxed
  - R/L sacral torsion
