Predictions for 2013

Alan S. Chartock
WAMC President and C.E.O.

The New Year is upon us and with it, my fearless predictions of events that may happen. I say “may” because in some cases, I want them to happen. In some cases, I do not and think by predicting them I will ward the event off. Finally, some of them, I am quite sure will happen. It’s up to you to decide which is which.

Governor Deval Patrick will be nominated to be Attorney General of the United States. If we are lucky he will then be nominated to be the next Supreme Court Justice after a younger member of the conservative majority resigns under an ethical cloud involving his wife.

The smokers at WAMC will form a self-help group with a male member of the group being unanimously elected President. It will be difficult but he will feel so rejuvenated that he will take up the trombone of his youth and join a jazz band. His demeanor at WAMC will improve considerably.

January Programming Notes

Katie Britton
Director of WAMC News/Programming

Welcome to 2013!

Well, folks, I’m thankful to say we have made it through another year. We’ve witnessed Curiosity make its way across Mars’ surface, a South Korean rapper take the music world and YouTube by storm, the first President to openly support gay marriage, the devastation of Hurricane Sandy, and the heart-breaking tragedies in Newtown, Connecticut and Aurora, Colorado. Let us hope the coming year brings us less devastation, and more good news and events.

Here at WAMC, we’ve been getting excited about some new programming that’s coming this year. It was your letters and calls that brought Radiolab and The Moth Radio Hour to our attention and airwaves. When Radiolab went weekly, we decided it was a no brainer to take it; now the same holds true for The Moth. Beginning January 4th, we’ll begin taking the weekly broadcast of The Moth, as brought to us by PRX: The Public Radio Exchange. Now you’ll be able to laugh and cry with the storytellers’ true stories each Friday at 1PM.

Do not fear, Playing on Air will still be with us. It will now be the 4th Friday of each month at 11AM during The Roundtable.

As I’m sure you’ve heard, The Met Opera is in full swing on Saturdays from 1PM – 4PM. This month we’ll be treated to Les Troyens, Il Trovatore, Maria Stuarda and La Rondine. The Toll Brothers-Metropolitan Opera International Radio Network is providing the concerts in HD, so you can be sure

Two WAMC staff members will announce that they will, once again, be fathers. Two others will be first-timers.

A woman on the staff will announce an upcoming blessed event.

Ian Pickus, the man of many faces, will come up with a truly unique look that will have people nominating him for the Lon Chaney Award.

David Guistina and his wife Karen will be taken to task for baking cookies that throw everyone at WAMC off their diets.

Selma Kaplan will let it be known that she is open to play at weddings, Bar Mitzvahs and all festive occasions. She will also throw in her newfound talents as a marriage officiant. She has now had considerable experience at that.

Dona Frank will announce that her underwriting department at WAMC is slated to bring in an incredible four million dollars in the next fiscal year.

Underwriting Representative Josie Slavinski will start to sell eggs over the internet. Her slogan will be, "You haven't seen yellow until you've seen the yellow in Josie's chickens' eggs."

A top WAMC executive will win millions of dollars in the lottery and will offer the largest match in the history of WAMC fund drives.

Pete Seeger, who has already done so much for WAMC, will do something very special for the station.

Governor Andrew Cuomo will permit hydrofracking in New York State. This will be legally contested in a series of courts.

The CDTA bus stop edifice in front of WAMC will be consecrated as the David A. Galletly Bus Stop.

Murray the dog will prove once and for all that he really can speak. His eloquence will be directed to all those dog owners that do not clean up after their dogs. He'll say, "If my wonderful pop can pick up for me, you slobbs will have to do the same thing."

"The Berkshire Ramblers" will play a benefit gig in Saratoga at Caffé Lena.

Dona Frank and her two bands, "The Spurs USA" and "The Maid Stealers" will do a joint gig at the Egg. The event will be sold out.

Joe Donahue will renounce his Diet Pepsi consumption and will bet Alan Chartock that he can be Diet Pepsi free before Chartock can. There will be a hundred dollar wager riding on Chartock can. There will be a hundred dollar wager riding on the matter.

A Yankee fan will surely tell Alan Chartock, "Hey, you're the guy in the Ichiban commercial!"

A long-time cohabitating couple will officially tie the knot.

Garrison Keillor will retire.

Teri Gross will retire.

Governor Andrew Cuomo will appear in the WAMC studios and be heard to say, "Who cares what the New York Post thinks?"

NPR will take itself private.

Alan will have to write another of these silly columns next year. - Alan

We will also continue to air Selected Shorts as they prepare a new year of short stories without longtime host and Symphony Space founder Isaiah Sheffer. He was one of the greats and I'm lucky to say my experiences with him were nothing but pleasurable. Being able to watch him read 'The Raven' when he did the Edgar Allan Poe benefit for WAMC was nothing short of amazing. Isaiah will truly be missed by everyone in and out of the public radio community.

I wish you all a prosperous and healthy year,
Katie

Three Timely Financial Resolutions for 2013

The start of a new year is a time to reflect on the past and ponder possibilities for the future. From a financial perspective, two things become clear: you have important goals as an investor and you need a plan to help you meet those goals. So when you make your list of New Year's resolutions for 2013, consider the following suggestions.

- 1. Get your retirement assets in shape and consolidate. If you have multiple IRAs or 401(k) accounts, consolidating them into one IRA or one rollover IRA may result in reduced or eliminated annual fees. Fewer monthly statements, as well as IRS-required annual reporting statements, will be mailed to you. In addition, if you are over age 70-1/2, your Required Minimum Distribution (RMD) will be easier to track.
- 2. Increase your retirement contributions. With every new year, you are one year closer to retirement. Contribute now for 2012 with one easy contribution. (The deadline is April 15, 2013.) The 2012 contribution limit for Traditional and Roth IRAs is $5,000 and may include an additional $1,000 "catch-up" opportunity for individuals age 50 and older.
- 3. Implement an asset allocation plan. The underlying principle of asset allocation is to diversify your investment portfolio among several different asset classes in an effort to reduce the risk and volatility of your overall portfolio — and potentially improve your overall returns. Even if you've already constructed a plan, changes to your investment profile such as time horizon or risk tolerance may require adjustments to your asset allocation plan. Plus, the plan you established last year may not be appropriate this year as a result of economic fluctuations or changes in your personal or financial circumstances.

What do you want to accomplish financially in 2013?

Take some time to consider these suggestions and make a New Year's resolution to keep your investment plan consistent with your needs. Contact your professional financial advisor today to review and implement your new year's financial resolutions.
