FROM ALAN

ALAN CHARTOCK

Okay, dear readers, here are my fearless predictions for the coming year. I offer them every year with the following warnings. Some of them predict things that I don't want to see happen so I offer them to put the evil eye on them. Then sometimes I offer predictions that I don't necessarily think will happen but I want to make them self-fulfilling prophecies. Finally, there are those that I really think will happen. As always, it is up to you to figure out which is which.

So here we go:

Two members of the New York State Assembly and two Senators will be arrested by U.S. Attorney Preet Bharara. The U.S. Attorney will send out a tweet with the most feared words at the Capitol, "Stay tuned."

A WAMC staff member will become the proud parent of a beautiful child. The child will be given a biblical name and will be showered with gifts.

A tactical meeting will have to be held by the front office staff and the news division to try to find more space for all the awards that keep coming to WAMC. Our wonderful news director, Ian Pickus, will be heard to say, "Maybe we should stop accepting these honors."

WAMC will get a proposal to make the first two hours of the Roundtable a nationally distributed show. The panel will be the first hour and Joe Donahue's wonderful nationally renowned book and celebrity interviews will be featured in the second hour. All the wonderful local interviews that the Roundtable has conducted will be featured in the third hour.

Jessica Bloustein Marshall, our Assistant News Director is a nationally ranked figure skater. She is so good that I predict she will win the U.S. National Adult competition this year. Despite temptations to tour with national ice skating shows, she will stand firm in her commitment to stay at WAMC at considerable cost to herself and her family.

WAMC will receive a substantial million-dollar donation. The donor will be a transgender woman who heard a Medical Monday program featuring a doctor who specialized in providing health care for transgender clients.

She will tell us of her feelings of despondency and thoughts of suicide and how everything changed for her when she met with the doctor. Simply put, the note with huge donation will read, "To my radio station, for saving my life."

WAMC will have its first ever million dollar two day fund drive. The locked box will be stuffed with $700,000 dollars.

Garrison Keillor will come out of retirement again saying, "No one is as good at this as I am." He will be right. Ralph Nader and Al Gore, both starving for publicity and recognition, will start talk of third party candidacies. Donald Trump will announce that he is opposed to any public radio subsidies. He'll say, "The last thing that we need to spend money on is a bunch of limousine liberals, many of whom are probably secret Muslims."

Alan will announce an absolute ban on bringing chocolate chip cookies to the front office.

Two WAMC staff members will marry each other.

The bus stop in front of WAMC will be swept away in a heavy wind. It will be seen as an act of God and therefore no one will wish to argue with the Almighty.

There will be record underwriting sales of over five million dollars. We will hear from super sales people who will say, "I want to work with WAMC!"

Alan Chartock will ask the FBI for his file. He'll be motivated by the news that Pete Seeger's file was hundreds of pages long. When it comes, Alan will be upset.

You, dear listeners, will have a healthy and happy holiday and a wonderful New Year!

JANUARY PROGRAM NOTES

■ KRISTIN GILBERT

This New Year's Eve, WAMC invites you to six parties, from east to west, with musical fireworks for midnight in all four continental time zones on the Toast of the Nation! An NPR tradition every New Year's Eve since the 1970s, the party begins January 31st at 9PM and grooves all night long until 5AM on New Year's Day. We will hear the energy infused live concert recordings of Wynton Marsalis, Snarky Puppy, Wycliffe Gordon, and more.

Promptly after Morning Edition, at 9AM, we will enjoy a two hour edition of New Year's with the PSO. This year, Manfred Honeck and the Pittsburgh Symphony are joined by classical comedy musicians Aleksey Igudesman and Richard Hyung-ki Joo. Igudesman and Joo make classical music accessible to a younger, broader audience by combining the classical medium with popular culture and humor. Jim Cunningham is your host for this fun-filled program to have you laughing into 2016.

At 11AM, we present The Vienna Philharmonic's annual New Year's Day concert live from the Golden Hall of the Musikverein in Vienna. Mariss Jansons, whose musical collaboration with the Vienna Philharmonic goes back to 1992, conducts the New Year's Concert for the third time, following 2006 and 2012. The New Year's Concert 2016 also represents the 75th anniversary of this unique cultural event. This year's program consists of the lively and yet nostalgic music from the vast repertoire of the Strauss family and its contemporaries.

In order to enjoy the full two hours of New Year's Day Live from Vienna, we will begin Midday Magazine one hour later at 1PM. Fear not, for our program featuring local news and weather will air in full despite the later start time.

The 2PM hour concludes our celebration with the 2016 edition of The Capitol Steps Politics Takes a Holiday New Year's special—a WAMC favorite! This year, the Capitol Steps take on Jeb Bush, Hillary Clinton, Ted Cruz, Bernie Sanders and the Donald to "Mock the Vote" in 2016!

January 12, 2016 brings us President Obama's State of the Union Address. WAMC will provide NPR's special coverage of the address from Washington, DC.

Governor Andrew M. Cuomo will host the 2016 New York State of the State and Executive Budget Address on Wednesday, January 13 at the Empire State Plaza Convention Center in Albany. Do not miss WAMC's coverage of the address starting at 12:30PM. After the address, join us for a special edition of Vox Pop to continue the conversation.

STRATEGIES FOR WORKING TOWARD YOUR RETIREMENT GOALS

■ TOM BROCKLEY

Provided by RBC Wealth Management and Thomas E. Brockley

Are you saving enough for retirement? The U.S. Senate, which recently recognized National Save for Retirement Week, wants to make sure you are, or at least encourage you to save more.

The reality is, however, that most Americans haven't saved enough to ensure a comfortable retirement. In fact, more than half of workers report that the total value of their household's savings and investments, excluding the value of their primary home and any defined benefit plan (such as a traditional pension) is less than $25,000, according to the Employee Benefit Research Institute's (EBRI) 2015 Retirement Confidence Survey.

While the amount someone will need in retirement varies, it's clear from EBRI's figures that many of us have a long way to go. So, what can you do to help speed your progress toward your retirement goals? Consider these suggestions:

ARE YOU SAVING ENOUGH FOR RETIREMENT?

- Take advantage of your employer-sponsored retirement plan. More than two-thirds of workers aren't taking advantage of employer-sponsored plans, such as a 401(k), according to a New School study based on the U.S. Census Current Population Survey. Many simply don't have access to a plan. But if you are fortunate enough to work for a company that offers a 401(k) or something similar, take full advantage of it. At a minimum, contribute enough to earn your employer's match, if one is offered. And every time your salary increases, boost your contributions. Employer-sponsored plans offer a range of investment options, plus tax-deferred earnings. And here's another perk: Because you contribute pre-tax dollars to your plan, the more you put in, the lower your taxable income. In 2015, you can put in up to $18,000 to your 401(k), or $24,000 if you're 50 or older.

- "Max out" on your IRA. You can contribute to either a traditional or Roth IRA, even if you're also putting money into a 401(k) or other employer-sponsored retirement. (However, you may face some limits on your ability to deduct your contributions to your traditional IRA, depending on your income. You may also face some limits on your ability to contribute to your Roth IRA, depending on your income. Roth IRA and Roth 401(k) contributions are never deductible, and the respective contributions do not need to be coordinated.) You can fund your IRA with virtually any investment you choose – stocks, bonds, mutual funds and other vehicles. A traditional IRA grows on a tax-deferred basis, while Roth IRA earnings grow tax-free, provided you don't take withdrawals until you're at least 59-1/2, and you've had your account at least five years. In 2015, you can put in up to $5,500 to an IRA, or $6,500 if you're 50 or older. That's a lot of money to come up with as a lump sum, so you may want to divide it into monthly installments. To make it even easier on yourself, consider having the money automatically moved from your savings or checking account into your IRA.

- Invest for growth. Whether you're investing in a 401(k), IRA or a taxable brokerage account, you need to devote a reasonable percentage of your dollars to growth-oriented investments, specifically stocks, stock-based mutual funds and other vehicles containing stocks. Of course, these investments will fluctuate in value, and you can incur losses. You can lessen your overall risk level through diversification – that is, owning many different types of stocks, along with bonds, government securities, certificates of deposit (CDs) and even real estate. But you've got to have that growth potential working for you.

By contributing as much as you can afford to your employer-sponsored retirement plan and your IRA, and by investing with growth in mind, you can go a long way toward building the resources you'll need for an enjoyable retirement. So, take action soon – and don't stop.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

AN EVENING OF SOCIALLY RELEVANT CINEMA.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT IS A MONTHLY EVENING OF FOOD, FILM AND DISCUSSION WITH A FOCUS ON FILMS OF SOCIAL, POLITICAL, ENVIRONMENTAL AND COMMUNITY INTEREST.

HELD ON THE THIRD THURSDAY OF EACH MONTH, THE NIGHT WILL FEATURE FOOD SAMPLES BY HONEST WEIGHT FOOD CO-OP, A FEATURE FILM SCREENING, AND AN OPEN PANEL DISCUSSION.

EVENTS OF THE MONTH

JANUARY

16 Come on out for our second annual Winter Band Blast to shake out those cabin fever blues. Three great regional bands and maybe a special guest or two are going to get you up and moving. KoriSoron, Sub Slab, and North & South Dakotas are primed for a fun evening to warm you up and shake up your winter doldrums.

21 THE ARMOR OF LIGHT, follows the journey of an Evangelical minister trying to find the courage to preach about the growing toll of gun violence in America. The film tracks Reverend Rob Schenck, anti-abortion activist and fixture on the political far right, who breaks with orthodoxy by questioning whether being pro-gun is consistent with being pro-life. Reverend Schenck is shocked and perplexed by the reactions of his long-time friends and colleagues who warn him away from this complex, politically explosive issue.

30 It's the 518's own Apollo Night, come out and see the area's best up and coming comedians, artists and poets. Presenting the comedy of Will Rizzo, Bryan Burgess and Lady T with artists Madison Donae, Saliyah Hosana, Vonta, Var Da All Star, DOC, Bway, Young Niss and the spoken words of UK the Lyrist, Jezsire, Bless Wise Words and Poetic Visions. Featuring the music of DJ Biz.
