

2014 WCBU EEO Public File Report

Period Covered by This Report: August 1, 2013 through July 31 2014

There were no full time positions filled during this time period.

Outreach Activities

Students as Announcers and Operators:

Bradley University students gain practical experience in radio operations working as part-time hourly paid board operators, providing interstitial announcements during programs.

There are additional opportunities to gain experience as producers and editors working on sustaining program series and special projects as paid and unpaid interns.

Students work under the supervision of the Operations Manager and News Director.

Internships and Student Employment WCBU News:

Bradley University students gain experience in the broadcasting field working as writers and reporters in the News Department under the supervision of the news staff.

This program is designed to supplement the learning experience and better prepare students for careers in media both in paid and unpaid capacities. Interns come from Bradley University and other universities around the country. They are paid, or work for academic credit.

RIS Volunteers:

Volunteers support the WCBU Radio Information Service, reading local publications for the blind and print handicapped. Using special receivers, listeners can hear local and national publications 24 hours a day.

Outreach Activities:

WCBU participated in a Bradley University Job Fair September 19, 2013 for the purpose of recruiting part time employees and interns. The station actively recruits among the student body through the Bradley University's Department of Communications in the Slane College of Communications and Fine Arts.

Staff members speak at local service clubs about broadcasting and opportunities in media.

Tours:

The station regularly provides tours for elementary, high school, and scouting groups, highlighting career opportunities in broadcasting.
