Noteworthy in May

- “Sherlock” returns – come to our preview!
- Come see us at the East Lansing Art Festival
- Meet WKAR’s new General Manager
- Volunteers needed for June TV campaign
You’re Invited to A “Sherlock” Preview

The game is on! “Sherlock” returns to Masterpiece Mystery! this month, and we have a sneak “pre-clue” for you!

Please join us at WKAR on Thursday, May 3, at 7 p.m., and get a peek at what the 21st century Holmes is up to this season!

Gary Hoppenstand, MSU English professor, will speak on the timeless nature of the detective and why “Sherlock” is such a successful adaptation.

We’ll have “mysterious” refreshments and a drawing for a special Holmes-related prize from Schuler Books & Music and Chapbook Café.

The event is free! Register online at WKAR.org.

Volunteers Needed

WKAR-TV’s June on-air membership campaign runs June 2-17. We are looking for volunteers to staff the phone bank. If you have time to share with WKAR during that period, please contact Mary Wright at (517) 432-3120, ext. 361 or email maryw@wkar.org.

Stay Tuned Survey

Thanks to all who shared their thoughts on the Stay Tuned survey included in the February guide. We love hearing from our members and consider each and every comment! It’s gratifying and illuminating to read your comments about the guide and hear your feedback about WKAR. Thank you!

BackStage Pass Reservations Open Soon!

BackStage Pass begins recording new programs at a new venue, East Lansing’s Hannah Community Center, June 26-27. You’ll find plenty of free parking and comfy seats when this season’s bands take the stage! Featured bands are: Home Again, Domestic Problems, Howling Diablos and Silent Lapse. Tapings are free but reservations are required online at WKAR.org, beginning in mid-May. We’ll let you know when reservations open at BackStage Pass from WKAR on Facebook and at WKAR.org.

QuizBusters Championship Series
Wednesday, May 9, 8 p.m.
Four teams, three games, two divisions, one grand championship! Lansing Everett takes on Okemos (8 p.m.) for the Green Division Championship, followed by Kent City and Jackson Christian (White Championship, 8:30 p.m.) At 9 p.m., the winning teams face off for the Grand Championship!

LRN 101
Saturdays, 11 a.m.
Learning isn’t just for kids – it’s for everyone. LRN 101 shows us how young and old can continue to expand lifelong learning in many ways. As part of Lansing’s Keep Learning initiative, the program includes book talk, field trips to area sites, and more.

American Masters: Johnny Carson
Monday, May 14, 9 p.m.
American Masters offers a new profile of talk show host and comedian Johnny Carson. Included are interviews and more than a few clips that demonstrate why Carson was the master of the talk show.

Civilization: The West and the Rest
Tuesdays at 8 p.m., beginning May 22
Examine the rise of the West’s economic ascendency based on host Niall Ferguson’s six principles of prosperity: competition, science, modern medicine, democracy, consumerism and work ethic.

Goat Rodeo Live
Friday, May 25, 9 p.m.
Four string virtuosos—cellist Yo-Yo Ma, bluegrass fiddler Stuart Duncan, bassist Edgar Meyer and mandolin wizard Chris Thile, offer an organic cross-genre project in which the “fire and drive of the bluegrass world meets the clarity and class of the classical music.”

Masterpiece Mystery! Returns with “Sherlock”
Sundays, 9 p.m.
The 21st century Sherlock Holmes returns to WKAR in a series of three new mysteries – A Scandal in Belgravia, The Hounds of Baskerville and Reichenbach Fall, all based on stories with similar titles by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. Benedict Cumberbatch (Holmes), Martin Freeman (Watson) and Rupert Graves (Lestrade) reprise their roles in these mind-twisting mysteries! (See page 2 for information about WKAR’s Sherlock preview!)

05/26 Red, White and Barbeque
The unofficial start of summer begins today. Grill master Steven Raichlen has tips to keep you happy all season!
Acting director, Gary Reid, was appointed permanent General Manager of WKAR in April, after nine months of overseeing the radio, television and online services. Reid brings a strong commitment to local broadcasting, expanding the integration of students into WKAR's production process and cementing WKAR's place as a major part of the mid-Michigan community.

We could tell you a good deal about his credentials and awards, both of which are significant. But to really know a person, nothing is better than their own words...

When I was young I had a fascination for all things technical. “Kind is it?” “Size is it?” “What is it?” were the queries to my parents even before grammar and syntax became important. And while my parents did their best to answer my questions, my curiosity was both quelled, and stimulated, by broadcasting.

The Zenith radio next to my bed took me to places I had never dreamed of. Especially at night, the plethora of distant signals bouncing off the ionosphere at once, took me to Boston, and then to Chicago, to Atlanta, to Houston, and even to Toronto, all with a slight adjustment of a dial illuminated by the comforting glow of vacuum tubes. The power of the spoken word, in a myriad of different accents, stimulated my imagination and actually induced me to get to bed on time in the hopes of hearing something new, unique and exciting.

Television brought its own sense of adventure. The private listening of radio morphed into communal viewing as ideas were shared and core values nurtured in a familial setting. With the addition of pictures, a whole new realm was uncovered. That small black and white screen, with rounded edges, took me to amazing and unexpected places. Even though there were only a few channels to watch, and stations signed on and off seemingly at will, I was hooked. I distinctly remember staring at a test pattern patiently waiting for what the day's program would bring.

TV taught me about people and places I had only heard about. The pictures brought culture to life and helped define my sense of the world.

As the years have slipped by, my fascination with the media, and those who helped define it as grown. I have been fortunate to learn from the best. Jim Quello, a 1935 graduate of MSU, got his first broadcast job at WKAR-AM. He later went on to lead WJR-AM through its golden years. And at a time when most people were content to retire, Jim enjoyed unprecedented bi-partisan support for his 23-year stint on the Federal Communications Commission. To the end, Jim was an ardent supporter of the value of free over-the-air broadcasting and all the responsibilities that entails.
Charles Osgood carries on in a similar tradition, upholding the values of responsible broadcast journalism and perfecting the use of the medium to convey powerful thoughts and ideas. His lyrical style of writing focuses the attention on the topic rather than presenter, and his inclusive delivery style involves the audience in ways that painfully few of his peers can match. These pioneers, along with many, many others have helped shape my views and given me a standard to strive for on a daily basis.

And so it is with a great sense of pride and responsibility that I embark on this new journey with WKAR. I am committed to the value of public media and am honored to work with our talented and dedicated professional staff as we set out to explore the new media landscape.

While the screens have gotten larger and more colorful than my boyhood memories, the value of the imagery is more important today than ever. On the radio side, the proliferation of musical styles and delivery options makes creation of a high quality product mandatory to stand out amongst the crowd. The advent of web-based digital media, be it streaming of content or community outreach via social media, has given us one more avenue to present our audiences and members with the utmost in quality.

No matter the outlet, we will strive to honor the rich heritage that public media has built, respect the legacy of those who have gone before us and build a sustainable organization that will pass along our fascination and commitment to quality for generations to come.

I’ll look forward to sharing further thoughts on our vision, direction and plans in the months ahead.

Meet Super WHY! and Curious George

May 19-20 – Downtown East Lansing

Two of our favorite characters are coming to town! Be on the lookout for Super WHY! and Curious George at the East Lansing Art Festival, May 19-20, in Downtown East Lansing. They’ll be walking all around the festival grounds so keep your eyes open!

While you’re there, do a fun “Super WHY! Around the World Adventure” activity with WKAR Ready To Learn in the Children’s Tent, where you’ll find fun activities, song, dance, puppetry and storytelling.

Can’t wait for the art festival?
Have fun right now coloring Super WHY! and Curious George.

Watch for Super WHY!'s Around the World Adventure on June 15 on WKAR-TV.

The Fatal Gift of Beauty by Nina Burleigh

Dick Estell begins reading The Fatal Gift of Beauty by Nina Burleigh on Wednesday, May 9, taking on the story of a young woman, Amanda Knox, an American student who made headlines when accused of murdering her roommate while studying in Italy.

The book is a thoughtful, compelling examination of an enduring mystery; an ancient, storied place; and a disquieting facet of Italian culture – its obsession with female eroticism. It also looks into the minds and personalities of Knox and her fellow accused killers and at the conservative Italian magistrate striving to make sense of an inexplicable act of evil.

At its core, the book is an indelible portrait of Amanda Knox, the strangely childlike, enigmatic beauty whose photogenic face became the focal point of international speculation about the dark side of youth and freedom.

“Jim was a big help for me, just learning sports from him helped me immensely,” Earle says.

When you bring longevity to the table, you also encounter a number of intriguing people and many of those figure into Earle’s memories at WKAR. “My top moments are meeting the various coaches here at MSU,” he says. “I've enjoyed knowing Tom Izzo since he was a grad assistant and getting to know some of the players that went on to play in the national football league.”

As baseball season kicks in, tune into SportsTalk 870 and “run the bases” with Earle, his guests from Michigan sports and more!

The Morning Voice!

When classical music kicks in weekday mornings, the voice behind the microphone is that of Mark Schwitzgoebel, who has been with WKAR for the past 25 years.

“My parents introduced me to music at a very early age,” he says. “I especially remember a 15-LP set they gave us kids, with each LP devoted to a different style of music. Plus, my dad was a musician (violin, cello) so he was always playing classical music in our house. And, he wouldn’t let us play our Beatles records on his stereo!”

Since Mark started his career, many of the changes in broadcasting have been technical. But he also notes that computers and social media have also changed the way listeners use radio, and he has jumped in for WKAR!

The 90.5 Classical from WKAR Facebook page generates lots of discussion with intriguing links. Some relate to a specific piece while others highlight a composer, a performance or an interesting story.

Mark says he finds the variety of links he posts on the page through “Newspapers, like the New York Times and the Guardian, Gramophone Magazine from England, NPR’s website and artsjournal.com.”

Check out the 90.5 Classical from WKAR Facebook page – and listen to Mark weekdays from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on FM 90.5 and at WKAR Classical online or WKAR.org.

Mark Schwitzgoebel’s Composer Picks

“Along with Bach, Mozart and Brahms, I am particularly fond of early music (medieval and Renaissance) and the works of Frederick Delius, Claude Debussy and Ralph Vaughan Williams.”
