WKAR Events Delight Fans

Here at WKAR we are jumping from a hectic spring at the East Lansing Art Festival -- where Daniel Tiger was stealing hearts -- to a busy summer. You may have seen the WKAR Street Team out there, giving us the thumbs up!

Current State was out in our community, too, broadcasting live from the East Lansing Art Festival in May and the Summer Solstice Jazz Festival in June. This month, Current State is broadcasting live from Common Ground (see page 8 for details).

Thank You, Media Partners!

We want to thank our Media Partners who have generously traded advertising space with WKAR so we can best keep you informed about our programs and events. Special thanks to:

BackStage Pass

BackStage Pass is enjoying a lively summer. Our Hannah Center free concerts in June gave us six new recordings for the next broadcast season. In August we’ll be at Lansing JazzFest in Old Town. Come on down to the festival and be in the TV audience for the fifth season of BackStage Pass!

Check Out

Our WKAR Kids’ Club has been busy, too! Club members have enjoyed special member-only events like a sneak preview of Curious George Swings Into Spring and a private meet-and-greet with Daniel Tiger.

How would your youngsters like to experience the fun benefits of WKAR Kids’ Club? As a member, children age 10 and under receive discounts at fun places, invitations to member-only events and an on-air birthday greeting, honoring each member on WKAR-TV.

TV members may enroll one child for $75 or enjoy a family membership for $90. For additional details, call (517) 884-4747.

Current State celebrated its 100th show in June, and during that time, has brought hundreds of features on the arts, business, sports and local issues to the mid-Michigan community. The team has also been doing its time on the road.

In May and June Current State was present at the East Lansing Art and Summer Solstice Jazz festivals, broadcasting live. July 8-12 will find the program at Lansing's Common Ground, interviewing artists, concert organizers and others who are part of mid-Michigan's popular music festival, which includes a wide variety of contemporary musical genres.

The program will be live at 6 pm that week with a repeat in the 9 am hour the following morning. Mark Bashore will host.

“I’m thrilled that Mark Bashore and the Current State crew will be present at such a major community event,” says WKAR Radio station manager Peter Whorf. “We’ll all look forward to personally connecting with many current WKAR listeners and potential new listeners. Our daily Current State Common Ground broadcasts will feature a wide variety of musicians, artists, newsmakers and community members in conversation with Mark and others.”

Summer Fun
For Kids!

WKAR is a safe haven for families. With children home during the summer, don’t forget that our kids’ schedule offers lots of programs that will keep their minds sharp while also entertaining them.

PBSKids.org is another terrific resource for children’s activities. Youngsters will have such fun with the video options and games, they’ll hardly know they are learning! And you can find some terrific activities at pbsparents.org as well. We also post links on our WKAR Education Services Facebook page, so if you don’t already “like” us, give us the thumbs up!
