

APRIL SPECIALS:

This is Cabaret
Ann Hampton Callaway
& Friends

Wednesdays at 3pm
4/5 – Steve Tyrell; 4/12 – Christine Ebersole;
4/19 – Curtis Stigers; 4/26 – Kurt Elling

Join host Ann Hampton Callaway, the Queen of American Cabaret, as she celebrates intimate performances and emotionally engaging songs from Jazz, the Blues, Broadway, and the whole Great American Songbook. Special guests perform and share personal insights with Ann, live from the stage of the legendary Birdland Jazz Club in the heart of New York City.

The Next Passover

Tuesday, April 11 at 11am

It's a musical Passover seder on Sounds Jewish. Join host Andy Muchin for an international playlist including recordings by Theo Bikel, So Called, Debbie Friedman, the Macaroons, Fortuna, the Moshav Band, the Malavsky Family, Sam Medoff & the Yiddish Swingtet, Yehoram Gaon and a rare version of "Bashana Haba'ah" featuring the late guitar master Roy Buchanan from his only Jewish recording.

A Family Passover

Wednesday, April 12 at 11am

Despite its length and dietary restrictions, Passover is one of the most widely celebrated Jewish holidays. That's likely because Passover prompts Jews to gather with family and friends and prepare themselves for spiritual renewal. Plus, Passover offers the best music of any Jewish holiday. Sounds Jewish presents Passover music and comedy featuring recordings by Jewish cowboy Harold Stern, Pharaoh's Daughter, Mickey Katz, Martha Schlamme, So Called, Shura Lipovsky, the Yiddish Twist Orchestra and rare tunes from 1970s Greece and early 20th century Poland.

The Four Cups

A Celebration of Passover

Thursday, April 13 at 11am

Violinist Itzhak Perlman (pictured) and Klezmer Conservatory Band founder Hankus Netsky share music and memories of Passover from diverse traditions. The gathering together of Jews every springtime to retell the story of their flight from Egypt might be the longest-running yearly cultural event in the history of humankind, and one that has inspired many different musical traditions. The Four Cups: A Celebration of Passover explores the great variety of music that emerged from these traditions.

Public Radio 90 Celebrates National Poetry Month with Readings from Local Poets

Weekdays, 9:35am

Listen every weekday in April at 9:35am as local poets stop by our WNMU studios during National Poetry Month. You'll be taken on journeys to places familiar and unfamiliar through the words of writers who live right here in the Upper Peninsula. Enjoy them again or share them with a friend at WNMU.FM.ORG.

Zion Harmonizers

The Elder Statesmen of New Orleans Gospel

Sunday, April 16 at 10pm

The Zion Harmonizers are rooted in the quartet singing tradition and a capella harmonies from the turn of the last century. For more than 40 years, they've enjoyed an unparalleled platform at the New Orleans Jazz and Heritage

Festival, anchoring and curating the Gospel Tent. In the church of New Orleans jazz, they've had the keys to the church of church. This special celebrates their album, Bringing In the Sheaves.

An Hour of Jazz:

Duke Ellington

Friday, April 28 at 3pm

Jazz Time with Howard Burchette presents several choice selections of recordings by Duke Ellington from a variety of albums. The mood is spiritual, sensitive, personal, romantic and appealing. These tracks are a special introduction to the legacy of Duke Ellington and will bring satisfaction to the loyal fan.

Dear Public Radio 90 Members,

In mid-March of this year, President Trump presented to Congress his budget proposal, which among other things, eliminates funding for the Corporation for Public Broadcasting. If approved by Congress, this action will result in the loss of over $150,000 each year for WNMU-FM.

The total yearly budget for Public Radio 90 is just shy of $910,000 and while losing 16% of our operating budget may not seem like a big deal, it actually is. From the cost of electricity that runs our transmitter to the programs we purchase, every dollar the station has is spent on mission critical equipment and services. There is no surplus at the end of each year.

That's why funding from the Corporation for Public Broadcasting is so important to your public radio station and that's why we're asking you to become engaged by letting your legislators know how you feel about federal funding for public media.

The good news is that voicing your opinion is not complicated. First, we encourage you to visit protectmypublicmedia.org and learn more about federal funding for stations like WNMU-FM, and how you can make sure your voice is heard.

The second way to become involved is to write your congressional representatives (house and senate) and share your views on the importance of public radio in our rural community. A brief message in your own words speaks volumes and will help them as they gather information about things that matter most to their constituents. You can find contact information for your representatives at www.senate.gov and www.house.gov.

Please take the opportunity right now to voice your opinions. Not only do we appreciate your willingness to make financial contributions to Public Radio 90, we also appreciate your taking the time to speak up about a service that brings the best in music, news and cultural enrichment to our part of the nation. Please act now, the future of this station is up to you!

Thank you!

Eric Smith, WNMU General Manager

New Evening Concerts in April

Spring brings a new season of classical concerts from around the world to the Public Radio 90 evening schedule – see page 9 for detailed listings

Cleveland's Severance Hall

The Cleveland Orchestra

Tuesdays at 8pm

The Cleveland Orchestra's radio broadcasting history dates back nearly to its founding in 1918. These broadcasts were heard each week by people as far away as Maine, Florida, Minnesota, and Canada. In fact, Cleveland was somewhat of a broadcast pioneer — it was only the third orchestra to broadcast its concerts, having been preceded by the Detroit Symphony and the New York Philharmonic, both of which had begun their concert broadcasts earlier in 1922. Since 1965, the Orchestra's broadcasts are syndicated around the world through the local radio station WCLV, broadcast from Severance Hall in Cleveland, or from the Adrienne Arsht Center, home of the Orchestra's Miami residency. As it nears the centennial of its founding in 2018, The Cleveland Orchestra is undergoing a new transformation and renaissance. Under the leadership of Franz Welser-Möst, entering his fifteenth year as the ensemble's music director with the upcoming 2016-17 season, The Cleveland Orchestra is acknowledged among the world's very best orchestras.

Carnegie Hall Live

Thursdays at 8pm

Produced by WQXR and Carnegie Hall, the sixth season of Carnegie Hall Live features some of the world's best performers and ensembles in a wide range of styles, from early music to recitals to orchestral performances. The season kicks off with the Opening Night Gala concert by the Simón Bolívar Symphony Orchestra of Venezuela, led by Gustavo Dudamel. Other highlights in the series include concerts by the Berlin Philharmonic, the Vienna Philharmonic, Staatskapelle Berlin with conductor and soloist Daniel Barenboim, the Munich Philharmonic led by Valery Gergiev, and the San Francisco Symphony with Michael Tilson Thomas; a performance of Schubert's Winterreise by tenor Ian Bostridge and pianist Thomas Adès; a specially-curated concert featuring the music of Arvo Pärt, Philip Glass, and Steve Reich; pianists Leif Ove Andsnes and Marc-André Hamelin in a duo-piano program; and Jordi Savall and Hespèrion XXI with a fascinating tour of music from the Medieval through the Baroque of the Venetian Republic. Please consult the full listings schedule for the complete list of concerts and performance details. Carnegie Hall Live is hosted by WQXR's Jeff Spurgeon, and is joined by alternating co-hosts John Hockenberry and John Schaefer.

Accademia Bizantina at Carnegie Hall

Shanghai Symphony Orchestra

Fridays at 8pm & Tuesdays at 1pm

In an historic collaboration, the WFMT Radio Network in Chicago presents the first broadcast series of a Chinese orchestra to U.S. radio audiences. Host Hoyt Smith, of KDFC San Francisco, and Maestro Long Yu present the Shanghai Symphony Orchestra (SSO) alongside an all-star line-up of soloists, including Lang Lang, Maxim Vengerov, Yo-Yo Ma, Yujia Wang and Christian Tetzlaff. Guest conductors include Zubin Mehta, Sir Andrew Davis, Osmo Vänskä, Daniele Gatti and Paavo Järvi. Culminating in highlights from the inaugural Shanghai Isaac Stern International Violin Competition, the final SSO broadcast in this 13-part series will present the $100,000 grand prize-winning performance of the Shostakovich Violin Concerto No.1. The series also offers performances from the orchestra's pioneering young artists program, the Shanghai Orchestra Academy, operated by the SSO in partnership with musicians from the New York Philharmonic.

The Shanghai Symphony Orchestra has a history of firsts: it was Asia's first symphony orchestra, and gave the Asian premieres of works by Beethoven, Brahms, Tchaikovsky, Strauss, Mozart, Mendelssohn, and more — many of the giants in classical music. Long Yu has served as Music Director of the Shanghai Symphony since 2009, and regularly appears as a guest conductor with orchestras around the world.

As Asia's oldest orchestra, the Shanghai Symphony Orchestra brought Western classical music to China. Today, it remains a world-class orchestra which attracts internationally renowned artists while it still retains its Chinese essence: the Shanghai Symphony Orchestra is a beacon of culture and arts for the city of Shanghai.

Some of the best-known modern musical works such as John Corigliano's "One Sweet Morning", Chen Qigang's "Butterfly in Love with Flowers" and Tan Dun's "The Map" and "Nu Shu" have been premiered by the Shanghai Symphony Orchestra.

ALL TIMES EASTERN

Monday-Friday at 9am

Through Friday, April 28, Jim Fleming continues reading Jewelweed: A Novel by David Rhodes. The author of "Driftless" takes us back to Words, Wisconsin and a new cast of characters who must take on the burdens of the past. Musical theme: Haydn's The Seven Last Words, Introduction, by Emerson Quartet.

Coming Monday, May 1, Jim Fleming reads Sit Stay Heal: How an Underachieving Labrador Won Our Hearts and Brought Us Together by Mel C. Miskimen.

When Mel Miskimen's mom died her dad's life changed as well. Knowing his passion for his springer spaniels, Mel thought she might reach him by asking for help in training her black lab Seamus. However, "training" may be a word that simply has no place in the world of a carefree follow-my-heart dog like this one. Musical theme: William Tyler's "I'm Gonna Live Forever (If It Kills Me)" from the album Modern Country (Merge Records.)

Chapter a Day from Wisconsin Public Radio has been airing in Wisconsin since 1927 and features a variety of readers. Episodes are available online for one week after they air. www.wpr.org/programs/chapteraday
