on Public Radio 90

Dear Public Radio 90 Members,

Happy New Year!

As we ring in the New Year, we thank you for your continued commitment to WNNMU-FM, Public Radio 90.

Thank you for helping us to remain a trusted source that so many listeners turn to for quality, inspiration, entertainment, and reliable news and information.

Thank you for your high expectations and for your feedback that helps us determine the blend of local and national public radio programming that fits your needs and desires.

During 2017, financial gifts from 1,812 listener households and 64 regional businesses and organizations helped us continue airing the wide variety of top-quality programs you expect from Public Radio 90.

2017 was an eventful year. Public Radio 90 welcomed our new Classical Music Host/Producer, Kurt Hauswirth and Business Support Manager Tammy Johnson.

Kurt was a student employee while attending NMU to pursue his music teaching degree. He returned to WNNMU after teaching for a while in Wisconsin, and now brings you Classiclectic every weekday morning as well as Peninsula Performances featuring music performances from across the U.P.

Tammy works with our regional businesses and organizations that support WNNMU. She has spent nearly 20 years in radio sales working with businesses of all sizes. If you're a UP business owner there's a good chance you already know Tammy.

WNNMU has always struggled with reception issues in some areas across the UP, particularly in the Marquette. During 2018 we'll continue working on solutions to help improve our on-air reception as well as offer other alternatives for enjoying our Public Radio 90 programs.

We look forward to bringing you during 2018 and beyond, in-depth news you can rely on, and music and entertainment programs found only on WNNMU and public radio.

Thanks again for keeping public radio alive and well in our upper Great Lakes region. Your continued financial support makes all the programs you enjoy possible.

From all of us at Public Radio 90, we wish you a healthy, Happy New Year! Warm Regards,

Evelyn Massaro Station Manager

E-Tax Receipts Help WNMU Put More Money Towards the Programming You Value

Everyone who donated to WNMU, Public Radio 90 during 2017, regardless of the amount, will be sent a 2017 tax receipt. The receipt will include the total $$ amount of all donations received by WNMU-FM during the year as well as the fair market value of any thank-you gifts you received.

Once again we are asking listeners to help us save on printing and postage costs by allowing us to email an electronic tax receipt for their 2017 donations. Receipts do not contain any sensitive financial information so there's no need to worry about them being sent electronically. The e-receipt can be printed or saved to your computer. Listeners helped WNMU save more than $800 by allowing us to email their 2016 tax receipts.

We will be sending an email permission request in early January. In order to receive an e-receipt you simply do nothing. We only need to hear from you if you'd like a hard-copy of your 2017 tax receipt mailed to you via the USPS instead of sent by email.

Tax receipts will be sent the week of January 29, 2018.

If you have not received your 2017 tax receipt by mid-February, please call us at 800-227-9668 and we will be happy to send you a duplicate receipt.

Thanks again for your continued support of WNMU, Public Radio 90. Every dollar, every member makes a difference!

Deutsche Welle Festival

- 1/4 - Schwetzingen Festival – This festival cultivates the sound of the “Mannheim School,” which was once so famous it drew Mozart there. One of Germany’s fabulous radio symphony orchestras performs music from that exciting period.
- 1/11 - Bachfest Leipzig – As well as Bach, this program focuses on the musician who discovered Bach a hundred years later, Felix Mendelssohn – whose Second Symphony also premiered here at St. Thomas’ Church.
- 1/18 - Berlin Philharmonic in Baden Baden – As the era of Simon Rattle with the Berliners draws to a close, hear their sound alchemy with music from eastern Europe.

- 1/25 - Romanesque Night – The voices of twin brothers Ratko and Radi a Teofilovi from Serbia render folk songs in an ancient church style with spinetingling results. Plus Gregorian chant, and a new piece from Wolfgang Rihm.

Peninsula Performances
Fridays at 8 pm & Tuesdays at 1 pm with host Kurt Hauswirth

Dear Listeners,
Peninsula Performances will be taking a short break January through March and will return in April with all new programs. In the meantime, we hope you enjoy these chamber music programs we have selected for your enjoyment. They are both lovely programs from the WFMT Radio Network: the Santa Fe Chamber Music Festival, and the Spoletto Chamber Music Festival. These are not permanently replacing Peninsula Performances – they'll air during the time frame when we will be dutifully working on recording and producing new Peninsula Performances programs. So, if you've enjoyed hearing local music ensembles, chamber groups and soloists, don't worry! It's not going anywhere. Peninsula Performances will return in April with a new line-up of programs for your listening pleasure. Thank you for your support of live music on Public Radio 90.
– Kurt Hauswirth
