

JULY SPECIALS:

COMPACT DISCOVERIES:

Independence Day

Monday, July 3 at 10am

Enjoy off-the-beaten-track music for the occasion, featuring Morton Gould's American Salute, his "Star-Spangled Overture" from American Ballads; "Celebration - Fourth of July" from Star-Spangled Symphony by Don Gillis; Henri Vieuxtemps' Yankee Doodle Variations; Ruggero Leoncavallo's Yankee March; Three American Dances by Henry Gilbert; The Union by Louis Moreau Gottschalk; and America Medley by Leonard Bernstein.

Let Freedom Sing

Monday, July 3 at 11am

The Mormon Tabernacle Choir and the Orchestra at Temple Square perform selections for the Independence Day holiday.

Stephen Foster – America's Bard

Tuesday, July 4 at 10am

It's hard to imagine American music without the work of Stephen Collins Foster. Foster was born on July 4, 1826 – fifty years to the day after the Declaration of Independence was signed. In 19th century America, popular songs were churned out by the dozens, but no other composer of the day wrote as many great songs with as much sticking power as Foster. Sing along with Oh, Susannah, Beautiful Dreamer, Old Folks at Home and more.

July 4th with Leroy Anderson & The Boston Pops

Tuesday, July 4 at 11am

Explores how Leroy Anderson, America's most popular light music composer, and the Boston Pops came together to make music that will be remembered for generations.

The Capitol Steps: Politics Takes a Holiday

July 4th Edition

Tuesday, July 4 at 3pm & 10pm

So you think you don't have any plans for July 4th? WRONG! SAD! Celebrate the holiday and pick up a few classified secrets by listening to the Capitol Steps as they poke fun at today's news with their brand new, one-hour 4th of July romp. This special promises to be huge, fantastic, tremendous... believe me, believe me. If there's anything both sides can agree on, it's that we all could use a laugh!

A Capitol Fourth 2017

Tuesday, July 4 at 8pm

America's favorite Independence Day celebration airs live from the West Lawn of the U.S. Capitol. Host John Stamos welcomes The Blues Brothers, The Beach Boys, The Four Tops, THE VOICE Season 12 winner Chris Blue, and Broadway star Phillipa Soo (AMÉLIE, HAMILTON) with the National Symphony Orchestra under the direction of top pops conductor Jack Everly. The concert will also feature a tribute to our men and women in uniform by country music star and Grammy-nominated member of the Grand Ole Opry Trace Adkins who will perform his new single "Still A Soldier." Korva Coleman anchors the show from NPR.

The 39th annual Hiawatha Traditional Music Festival comes to Marquette's Tourist Park, July 21-23. We have all the details on page 5.

Dear Public Radio 90 Members,

As I write this letter on June 26nd we are just a few days away from the end of our 2017 fiscal year. Over the year we received contributions from 1,914 Public Radio 90 listeners households totaling $385,299. In addition, 342 listeners joined our Public Radio 90 membership ranks over the year and our Sustaining membership grew to 624 members. Thank you for your tremendous generosity.

The local and national public radio programming that WNMU-FM is able to bring you is a direct reflection of the financial support we receive each year.

Thank you for helping us to remain an institution that so many listeners trust and turn to for quality, inspiration, entertainment, and reliable news and information.

Your membership dollars make it possible for us to bring you in-depth news and analysis from NPR and our own Public Radio 90 newsroom. You make our eclectic mix of music programming possible—including internationally renowned orchestral and operatic performances, jazz, blues, folk, international and traditional music as well as our own local talent. You also help make possible the variety of local programming unique to our listening area. In the Pines featuring traditional music recorded at the annual Hiawatha Traditional Music Festival and Porcupine Music Festival; Highlights from the Marquette Area Blues Festival; 8-18 Media from the Upper Peninsula Children's Museum, Anishinaabe Radio News in partnership with NMU's Native American Studies, April Poetry Month Readings, Media Meet our local public affairs program, Holiday Readings and Remembrances, and Learning Through the Seasons, as well as special programs throughout the year to celebrate special days and to remember those who made a difference.

Your financial gifts are an investment in the future of our upper great lakes region. They not only keep us on the air, they enable us to enhance and expand our program services for you. While belt-tightening and budget adjustments are a part of everyday life for non-profit organizations like Public Radio 90, we look forward to serving you for many years to come.

You are the reason I'm proud to call us listener-supported Public Radio 90, WNMU.

Please enjoy our special Independence Day programming paid for by your generous contributions.

Have a Wonderful Summer,

Evelyn

Open Water Marine Forecasts Air Through October

Last year Public Radio 90 began providing open water marine forecasts beyond 5 nautical miles for the central portion of Lake Superior and the northern half of Lake Michigan.

We received such a positive response from not just boaters but also surfers, rock collectors and general lake enthusiasts that we plan to continue the marine forecasts each year during the boating season, from May through October.

Marine Forecasts can be heard weekdays at 8:30am, 11:59am and 5:18pm and Saturdays & Sundays at 8:18am, 11:59am and 5:19pm (all times Eastern.)

Please note that forecasts may be preempted during times when WNMU-FM is using computer automated programming.

39th Annual Hiawatha Traditional Music Festival 2017 July 21-23

Join in the fun at a weekend of traditional music at the lovely Tourist Park campground in Marquette. This is a family oriented, music filled weekend on the beautiful shores of the Dead River Basin. There are music events and activities for every age.

Each July, since 1984, the Hiawatha Music Co-op has invited musicians, families and guests from near and far to come to Tourist Park for a weekend of traditional music and arts, concerts, workshops and informal jam sessions. They call this the Hiawatha Traditional Music Festival. In the past thirty nine years, families have grown, children have grown, babies have come and now one will find many campsites with 3 and even 4 generations of family members, passing on the love of American traditional music.

This year's music promises to once again please everyone with local, regional, national musicians and world traveling musicians. The main stage on Saturday and Sunday will feature the music from The Barley Jacks, Johnny Gillette and Sarab Mittelfelbdt, Sones de Mexico, The Sweetwater Warblers, Pert Near Sandstone, The Cactus Blossoms, The Bucking Mules, Jayme Stone's Folklife, Dan Newton & the Café Accordion Orchestra, and All Strings Considered.

Step into your dancing shoes at the Friday-night dance starting at 6:30pm, with All Strings Considered, Dan Newton & the Café Accordion Orchestra and The Bucking Mules. Throughout the weekend, most main stage performers as well as local and regional musicians will present small workshops.

In the 'Teen Scene,' Hiawatha's teens ages 13-17 will enjoy dance and workshop appearances by Chris Crown and Black Jake & the Carnies. Both bands will be featured at the Saturday night 'Teen-only' dance. Crafts and other activities designed for teens will also be featured. New to the Festival this year will be a 'Tween Tent' for youth ages 9-12 with activities and music tailored to their interests. The youngest Festival-goers will enjoy a busy line-up in the Children's Area, with child-friendly crafts and activities, including the return of Papa Crow, Lake Effect, Randy Kaplan, Ron and Jan Fowler and Frank Youngman. A highlight of the weekend is the Sunday afternoon Children's Parade with instruments made at the Children's Area during the weekend, led by Frank Youngman. The Tourist Park beach is open during the day with city lifeguards for families to enjoy as well.

Another important Festival tradition is the Artists-in-the-Round art and craft show and sale. As always, this years artisans will offer a wonderful assortment of traditional homemade wares. The Festival will also feature a Young Artists Corner that will feature a juried craft show and sale on Saturday afternoon.

A variety of local food vendors will also be on hand to provide hearty breakfast, lunch and dinner fare as well as snacks and beverages.

Camping is available to those wishing to stay on the Festival Grounds. On site parking passes are available for purchase and off site parking is available at no cost. A horse drawn shuttle is also available at no cost from the free parking area to Festival grounds. There is also a shuttle with a trailer at no cost from the free parking area to the Festival camping area.

To learn more about camping and the Festival and to order tickets on-line, please visit the Hiawatha Music Co-op website at www.hiawathamusic.org. Ticket are sold at the office, 129 W Baraga Ave, Suite B, and on our website or via telephone (906-226-8575) 12:30 to 6pm, Monday through Thursday. Advance tickets available through July 12th. Gate prices apply after July 12th.

MEDIA MEET

Sundays at 7:30 am ET Repeats Mondays at 3:30 pm ET

7/2-3 "Elder Abuse"

It's a crime that affects our communities every day. Experts discuss the frequency, consequences and prevention of a growing elder abuse problem. Guests: Upper Peninsula Commission for Area Progress Long Term Care Programs Director Mark Bomberg, Retired UPCAP Quality Assurance Specialist Cathy Klintworth, Michigan State Police Community Service Trooper Dale Hongisto and Marquette County Prosecuting Attorney Matt Wiese. (Repeat from June)

7/9-10 "Vatican Science"

A discussion of science and current issues with a priest who is, in fact, a scientist and lecturer for the Vatican.

7/16-17 "Peter White Public Library Bond Proposal"

A review of factors informing an upcoming ballot proposal to update the public library in Marquette. The proposal calls for a $4.2 million bond over 15 years.

7/23-24 "Grassroots Energy"

A peninsula-wide discussion of energy systems and alternatives for the region, with an eye toward more inclusion of renewable energy along with resources in place. Topics include new technology development, costs, rates and local control. (Repeat from June)

7/30-31 "Keeping Kids Safe Online"

A look at online threats to children and efforts to boost social media awareness among parents and concerned adults.

Program topics are subject to change in order to cover timely news and events.
