

K2

The Monkey that Interrupted...

By: Levi Thornton

A long time ago, there was a bear. He hated people interrupting him when he was doing something important.

So, when a monkey came and interrupted him while he was eating lunch, he roared at the monkey.

Then leapt off and ran away with all of his honey in his arms. The monkey followed.

The bear went to another island and found a cave. He put rocks over the mouth of the cave so the monkey could not follow.

But the monkey found an entrance at the other side. The monkey came in, and the bear looked over and ate him!

The moral of the story is that monkeys should be scared of bears. Also, don't interrupt a bear when he's having lunch, or he might just eat YOU!