

Politics More Informed: Mara Liasson

NPR's National Political Correspondent Mara Liasson will speak in Spokane on June 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the Bing Crosby Theater. Known as being one of the most diligent journalists in Washington, DC, Liasson provides in-depth coverage of candidates and issues in both presidential and congressional races. She presents context for political trends and looks below the surface of what's happening in the political landscape.

In June, Liasson will fill us in on the current situation, provide perspective, and talk about the Mid-Term Elections. The evening will include a Q&A session as well as the opportunity to meet Liasson after the presentation.

Liasson's reports are regularly heard on Morning Edition and All Things Considered. She has been with NPR since 1985 as a reporter and newscaster. Liasson has received numerous awards for her reporting, including the White House Correspondents' Association's Merriman Smith Award for her daily reporting.

This evening is also our annual Thank You event acknowledging volunteers and underwriters who have worked with the station in the past year. Complimentary General Admission tickets will be available at the front desk for those supporters.

KSFC 91.9fm Presents Series on Aging

Tune to KSFC April 10-13 at 10 a.m. for a four-program series exploring issues related to retirement and aging. These live call-in programs hosted by Doug Nadvornick will feature guest experts who will answer listener questions on a variety of topics related to life after retirement.

The first program in the series will focus on communication.

Poetry

Moment

With a wealth of poets in the region, SPR has created Poetry Moment, which features a week of poetry curated and read by a local artist. Listen weekdays at 9 a.m. on KPBX or find them at kpbx.org.

Every Tuesday at 9 p.m. on KPBX Edmund Stone takes us to the movies with The Score. Tune in weekly to explore the music that makes or breaks a film's success.

Plan Well, Age Well Continued from front panel

How do families talk about their future and what are the obstacles in planning? The second program will dive into the legal side of aging, including long term care and estate planning. Program three will get into the nitty gritty of financial planning and Social Security. The final program will look at Medicare and long-term planning in terms of health.

To participate in the discussion, submit your questions in advance at inlandjournal@kpbx.org or call (509) 328-5877 during the broadcast. The whole Plan Well, Age Well series will be recorded and made available online at KSFC.org.

The broadcast is being presented in partnership with the Spokane Elder Resource Team.

Innovation Hub features today's most creative thinkers; explores new avenues in education, science, medicine, transportation, and more Sundays at 2 p.m. on KSFC

Founded in 1903, The Commonwealth Club of California is the nation's oldest and largest public affairs forum. Tune in Mondays at 10 p.m. on KSFC to hear lectures and debates by experts and public figures.

The Daily to Air on KSFC

Starting in April, listeners will be able to hear The Daily at 5 p.m. This program began as a podcast created by The New York Times. Each episode is a deep analysis of one or two of the day's top news topics. Host Michael Barbaro leads a two-way discussion with other Times reporters, incorporating interviews and related audio to create a fascinating half hour of radio.

SPR General Manager Cary Boyce says, "One of the defining characteristics of public radio is taking the time to tell a story and re-search the facts. The Daily is a worthy addition to that commitment."

Other changes to the KSFC lineup include Inland Journal moving to Thursday at 3:30 p.m. and the return of more public affairs programs at 10 p.m. Monday-Thursday in place of a repeat hour of On Point.
