Thank you for your high expectations and for your feedback that helps us determine the blend of local and national public radio programming that fits your needs and lifestyle. You do good work.

During 2018 financial gifts from 1736 listener households and 73 regional businesses and organizations, made it possible for us to bring you in-depth news and analysis from NPR, the Michigan Public Radio News Network and our own Public Radio 90 newsroom.

Your donations make our eclectic mix of music programming possible- including our own local talent on Peninsula Performances featuring concerts recorded across our listening area, In the Pines featuring traditional music recorded at the Hiawatha Traditional Music Festival, The Porcupine Mountains Music Festival and others, and Highlights from the Marquette Area Blues Festival.

We know that the more listeners we have providing financial support for WNMU, Public Radio 90, the more self-sufficient we can become thus reducing our reliance on state and federal funding which is so vulnerable. The bottom line is the less we have to worry about state and federal money to operate the more we can focus on better serving you.

To keep Public Radio 90 running strong we need more than your donations. We also depend on your feedback about the programs you value as well as suggestions for future improvements and changes. We also count on you to convince other Public Radio 90 listeners of the importance of their financial gifts as well.

Yes, it's a challenge raising the revenue needed every year to keep WNMU-FM operating, but with the continued strong support of listeners like you, I have confidence that Public Radio 90 will be here for many years to come.

We look forward to serving you in 2019 and beyond with even more of the best of what public radio has to offer.

From all of us at Public Radio 90, we wish you a healthy, Happy New Year!

A look back at 2018 with Tammy Wixtrom-Johnson, WNMU Business and Community Support Coordinator

This year has been a very special time for me, as it marks my first year in non-commercial broadcasting and Public Radio 90. I have had the opportunity to meet so many wonderful people and have knocked on many doors as I sought to increase our business program underwriting. My biggest take-away from this past year is this: Public Radio 90 is a treasure for our region and I am blessed to be part of such a great organization that gives so much to our area.

It would be remiss of me not to mention the dedicated and talented staff here at the station. It is amazing what a small staff can accomplish when everyone loves what they do. Not only is Public Radio 90 blessed with a dedicated staff, we are also blessed with incredibly dedicated members and volunteers. I have learned the value of those that give their time freely to assist us as we continually aim to increase our membership base and raise enough money, so that we can continue airing the best possible programming we can offer.

So, as we look forward to our next year's challenges, I will leave you with a few facts regarding underwriting on Public Radio 90.

- Public Radio 90 underwriters are held in higher regard by the public radio listener.
- Public Radio 90 underwriters are seen as more trustworthy and credible by listeners sharing their values.
- Public Radio 90 underwriters are thought of more as supporters than just another business trying to make a sale.

Happy Holidays to you and your family and many blessing for a prosperous new year. Thank you for opening your doors to me and I hope to see you soon to talk about your underwriting opportunities.

– Tammy (twixtrom@nmu.edu or 906-227-2642)

Sustaining Membership is easy and convenient and helps provide Public Radio 90 with a stable source of income to support the programs you value.

When I'm out and about our listening area, one of the things I hear most from listeners is "I wish I could afford to give more." That's one of the reasons WNMU, Public Radio 90 introduced Sustaining Membership in 2003 as an option for listeners willing to make a long-term financial investment in local public radio.

You designate the monthly amount you want to contribute to Public Radio 90...starting with a minimum of $5 a month. You then authorize us to draw that amount each month from either a credit or debit card, OR from your checking or savings account at your bank or credit union. That authorization remains in effect until you notify us that you would like your installments to end.

You can also authorize WNMU to use the inflation guard option to guard against erosion of your contribution through inflation

Sustaining Membership is easy and convenient and helps provide WNMU with a stable source of income to support the programs you value.

606 listeners used the Sustaining Membership option during 2018 to give $142,565!

If you'd like to become our next Public Radio 90 Sustaining Member call us at 800-227-9668 Monday-Friday, 8:30-4:30pm or sign up online at WNMUFM.org and click on red DONATE button on the top right side of the page.

Monday, Jan. 7 through Friday, Feb. 1, Jim Fleming reads Clock Dance by Anne Tyler (Knopf; ISBN-10: 0525521224).

A bewitching novel of hope and transformation, self-discovery and second chances, Clock Dance gives us best-selling, Pulitzer Prize-winning author Anne Tyler at the height of her powers.

Willa Drake can count on one hand the defining moments of her life. In 1967, she is a schoolgirl coping with her mother's sudden disappearance. In 1977, she is a college coed considering a marriage proposal. In 1997, she is a young widow trying to piece her life back together. And in 2017, she yearns to be a grandmother. Then, one day, Willa receives a startling phone call from a stranger. Without fully understanding why, she flies across the country to Baltimore to look after a young woman she's never met. Musical Theme: by Bill Frisell.

Chapter a Day from Wisconsin Public Radio has been airing in Wisconsin since 1927 and features a variety of readers. Episodes are available online for one week after they air.

Deutsche Welle Festival

- 1/3 - World Premiere – “Beethoven’s ghost was in the room,” says the conductor of this concert, relating the moment when Bernhard Lang’s new piece began to take shape. We have it here, along with the work it was patterned after: Beethoven’s Third Piano Concerto.
- 1/10 - Piano Duos – Listening to the piano adaptations of pieces like Beethoven’s Fifth Symphony, you might just hear things your ear has gotten used to ignoring in the original. We have three fascinating piano duos with original works and adaptations, familiar and unfamiliar pieces – and lots of notes.
- 1/17 - Orchestras in Saxony – International understanding and the free flow of ideas are the lifeblood of the music world. Reminding us of these core values, two of Saxony’s storied orchestras – arch-rivals actually – got together for common purpose in this concert.
- 1/24 - More Tensions in Heimbach – More electrifying performances from the historic hydroelectric power plant in a river valley in a remote corner of western Germany. The mostly Russian playbill reflects the country in focus in the festival’s most recent edition.
- 1/31 - Early Music in Herne – Envy, gluttony, greed, lust, pride, sloth, and wrath: the seven deadly sins have plagued the consciences of centuries of sinners – and inspired a lot of music explored by the Early Music Days in Herne. Together we’ll partake in the delightful pleasure of musically processing man’s failings.
