CINCINNATI – Free tickets for the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra’s LUMENOCITY are available online starting Monday, June 9, at 8 a.m. from www.lumenocity2014.com. The expanded, groundbreaking free concert experience for the community in Cincinnati’s Washington Park takes place on August 1, 2 and 3, 2014. Capacity for LUMENOCITY is 12,500 for each of the three performances, a combined 37,500 over three nights. A limit of four tickets per household for either the Friday, Saturday or Sunday night performance may be reserved. Tickets will be issued until capacity is reached. This is a rain or shine event.

Up to four (4) free tickets can be ordered per household. Those reserving must select which day they wish to attend (August 1, 2 or 3). Tickets are not exchangeable to another day, even in the event of rain. LUMENOCITY will take place rain or shine. In extreme inclement weather or with the threat of lightning, the event organizers may issue a rain delay.

The ticketed LUMENOCITY concert experience starts at 8:30 p.m. each of the respective nights, and the all-new, non-ticketed LUMENOCITY Village on the south end of Washington Park, outside of the LUMENOCITY viewing area, will be open to the public starting at 4 p.m. on Friday, August 1, and 11 a.m. on both Saturday, August 2 and Sunday, August 3. The village will feature pre-concert performances in Washington Park's bandstand, arts and crafts, and greatly expanded food and beverage services.

The concert will begin at 8:30 p.m. with the Orchestra performing Broadway and Americana favorites as the Cincinnati Pops under the baton of Conductor John Morris Russell. After an intermission, the light image portion of the performance begins, with the CSO performing works from Copland, John Adams, Tchaikovsky, Elgar and Borodin under the direction of Music Director Louis Langrée.

Reserving online

Patrons ordering tickets online should follow the instructions below:

1. Enter www.lumenocity2014.com into the browser
2. Click "free tickets"
3. The website will then transfer to a Ticketmaster site
4. Click "Find Tickets" on the date you wish to attend
5. Select the quantity of tickets you wish to reserve (all tickets general admission)
6. Click "Find Tickets"
7. Ticketmaster will prompt you to enter your Ticketmaster account username and password or to create an account. (This is different than the username and password used to purchase tickets throughout the season on the CSO and Pops website.) Follow these instructions to create a Ticketmaster account.
8. A confirmation screen will appear to confirm the reservation. Tickets will not be e-mailed and will not be immediately available for printing. At the end of June, patrons can login to the ticketmaster.com account to view and print tickets.

For audience members without a computer or internet access, a supply of free tickets will be made available to several of the CSO's community partner organizations. LUMENOCITY is a rain or shine event, and tickets are not exchangeable.

In addition to the lumenocity2014.com website, the CSO has established a LUMENOCITY telephone information line at 513-744-3372. For Ticketmaster-related questions, patrons may call the Ticketmaster Fan Support line at 1-800-653-8000.

Cincinnati Public Library

To help ensure the broadest possible audience for this free community event, a portion of the LUMENOCITY tickets available for the Friday and Saturday performances are being reserved specifically for underprivileged families and those without internet access. These free tickets will be distributed beginning June 9. One of these partners is the Public Library of Cincinnati & Hamilton County, which will have tickets available at the following branch libraries, beginning at the indicated branch open time:

- Main Library (9 a.m.)
- Avondale (noon)
- Bond Hill (noon)
- Clifton (noon)
- College Hill (noon)
- Delhi Township (10 a.m.)
- Madisonville (noon)
- Mt. Washington (noon)
- North Central (10 a.m.)
- Oakley (noon)
- Price Hill (noon)
- Sharonville (10 a.m.)
- Walnut Hills (noon)
- Westwood (noon)

In addition to these Public Library of Cincinnati & Hamilton County branch libraries, tickets will also be available through other community service organizations. All tickets being distributed through the Public Library and other community locations are reserved for individuals and families without internet access. Those with internet access should reserve tickets via www.lumenocity2014.com.

Patrons may also reserve tickets via phone directly through Ticketmaster by calling 1-800-745-3000. The automated service will begin at 8 a.m. while customer service representatives will be available beginning at 9 a.m. Tickets are not available by calling the CSO Box Office or in person at Music Hall.

Information about any possible standby tickets will be announced at a later date.
